Wellesley Senior High School Wellesley, Massachusetts

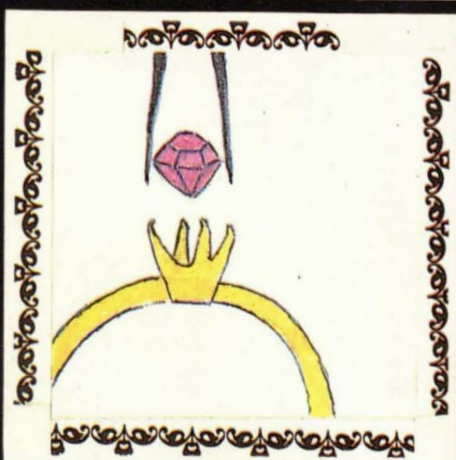

Volume XLVII

"The highly developed craft of the lapidary, or gem cutter, produces the cutting, shaping, and polishing of precious and semi-precious stones, singly or in combination of unexcelled beauty." We have chosen the theme of the 1982 Wellesleyan to be "Gems and Jewels." The process of a student is developed over the three high school years, just as jewels and gems are created and strengthened through fine cutting and polishing. The student begins as an uncut diamond (underclassmen) , and with the aid of the faculty.

ACADEMICS

The academics section is symbolized by the sapphire which represents wisdom and the purity of the soul. These beliefs originated from the stone's blue color which was said to reflect the "blue of the heavens." The sapphire was the gem of Apollo, the Greek god of wisdom. The sapphire has always been the symbol of truth and sincerity. As the birthstone of September, "Out of the depths shall sapphires come; Bringing September's child wisdom." Academics is part of the strengthening process.

FACULTY

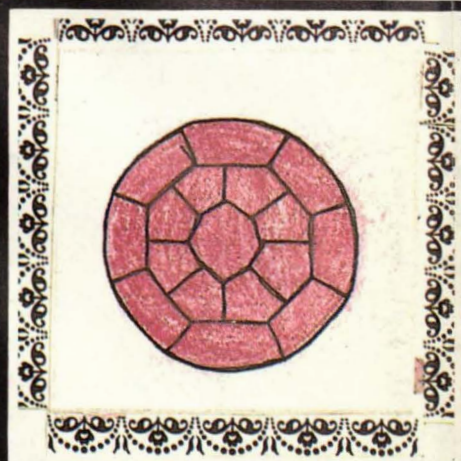

The faculty section is symbolized by the jeweler or the diamond cutter. It is the diamond cutter's job to split or cleave the stone in such a way as to enhance its finest beauty. This is a crucial process, for a stone struck in the wrong place may be ruined. The jewelers must be extremely well-versed in their work to produce the final product, to take the uncut stone and produce from it a valuable gem. So must the faculty be knowledgeable in their respective fields to take the students through three years of academic training and to create the brilliant gems which they produce. The faculty is part of the creating process.

JEWELERS

ACTIVITIES

The activities section is symbolized by the garnet which represents constancy. Through their participation in the different school activities, the students of WHS remain true and constant to their school. The garnet's red color is symbolic of WHS's school color of red. "The gleaming garnet holds within its sway, faith, constancy and truth for one away." The garnet has been said to endow the wearer with a light heart, loyalty and unchanging affections. "The garnet will insure her constancy, true friendship and fidelity." The activities section represents the setting of the gems.

GARNET

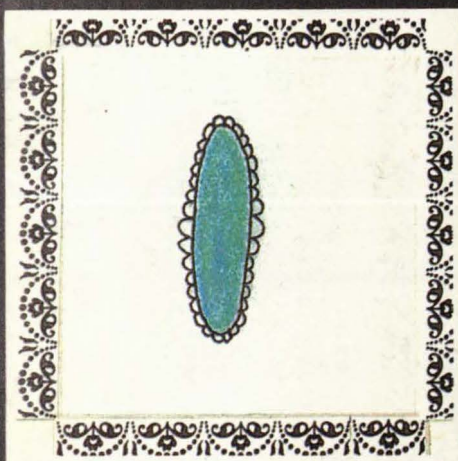

SPORTS

The sports section is symbolized by the pearl which represents health and long life. "... With ring of pearl upon her hand; can health, long life, and wealth command." The pearl represents youth and beauty, just as sports help one preserve a youthful appearance and beauty. The sports section is a part of the strengthening process of the gems.

PEARLS

(jewelers) a brilliant diamond (senior) is finally created. Over the years the gem (student) is strengthened through the different academic and sports programs of WHS. The student (gem) is shown at his best in the setting of the clubs, organizations, and activities of WHS. Through this process an exquisitely rare diamond is created and can be viewed in its brilliance in the events of the senior year pictured on the pages of the Traditions section.

Each section of the 1982 Wellesleyan is symbolized by a different gem according to the content of the section and the lore surrounding the gem.

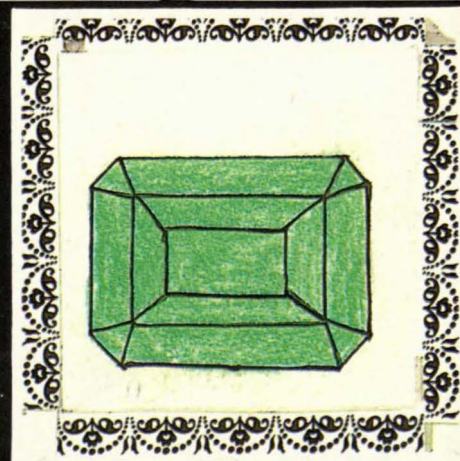

CLUBS AND ORGANIZATIONS: The clubs and organizations section is symbolized by turquoise which represents prosperity. The existence of and participation in the clubs and organizations of WHS insure prosperity for the students and the school. Turquoise symbolizes success and good fortune. "... Place on your hand a turquoise blue, success will bless whate'er you do." The clubs and organizations section is a part of the setting of the gems.

UNDERCLASSMEN: The underclassmen section is symbolized by uncut diamonds. The beauty of the diamond does not become apparent until it is polished and "worked." The underclassmen are valuable, but still have not achieved their full status and value as cut diamonds or seniors. Only after years of cleaving and polishing can a valuable diamond be created. The distinction between the uncut diamonds and the finished gems is obvious even to the untrained, naked eye. (An analogy may be made here between the students and the jewels.)

SENIORS: The senior section is symbolized by diamonds, the most valuable of all precious jewels. The diamond represents many different things among them being endurance, victory, purity, strength and virtue. It is believed to hold the powers of good luck and happiness. The wearer is given strength of both character and body and is able to resist temptation. The name "diamond" is linked with the Greek word "adamas" meaning literally "invincible," or "unconquerable." The diamond is the hardest substance known, natural or artificial. It has been called the master of all gems, the gem above all others, the most powerful stone with the greatest influence on human affairs. It is fitting therefore, that it should symbolize the section for seniors.

TRADITIONS: The traditions section is symbolized by the emerald which represents riches, fame and happiness. In this section are described and pictured all famed traditional senior events: the prom, banquet, the May events, graduation, the all night party and all the events that are so well known among Wellesley High School seniors. The emerald signifies that there is, "much to look forward to," which is well-known among seniors, as they are pictured in the Traditions section preparing to step from their lives at WHS into a new life, different from any experience they have ever known. It is this experience they look forward to. The emerald is the symbol of serenity and peace of mind. It is also known for its prophetic abilities. It symbolized the future, the gift of prophesy in the Middle Ages. This happiness, serenity, success and fame can be seen in the pages of the Traditions section. The future symbolized by the emerald can be seen in the seniors pictured on these pages as they leave WHS to enter into the new and exciting experience of life.

Faculty — Our Jewelers

As one walks through the halls of Wellesley High School, a lone figure can be seen running here and there, someone who is obviously busy with a million things to do. This figure is our new principal, Susan Sellers. It's a curious thing, though, that no matter how many things she has to do, she still has time to stop and chat, to give a wink or a smile, or just say hello as she darts by.

The main goals of Miss Sellers during her first year are clear; to maintain the quality education that has characterized Wellesley in the past and to provide a complete education in which the emotional level as well as the intellectual is challenged and encouraged to grow.

In the future, Miss Sellers hopes to establish a successful and smooth transition when we become a four year high school in the next two years. Miss Sellers loves her administrative position, ("It really challenges me, it gives me a chance to be both a business manager and an educational leader.") but her first love is teaching and she hopes to teach a class on the modern family next year. "Nothing can compare with the emotional gratification I receive from teaching," Miss Sellers states, and judging from her warm and kind personality, one must believe she'll do a fine job.

The transition from her position at Reading High School to Wellesley has been a demanding one for her. At first she was a little homesick, but after the first few months she states, "I really feel at home now at Wellesley High School and I can't wait for each new day to begin."

Academics — Sapphire

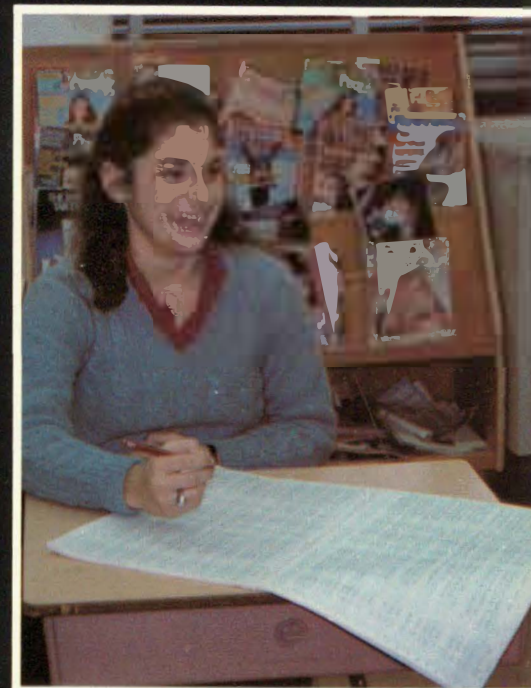

The well-known academic reputation of Wellesley High School is one of excellence in its various fields. In fact, two years ago, WHS was rated as one of the top ten schools in Massachusetts. This is a direct result of the interesting programs, excellent student/ teacher rapport, and the sense of competition embedded in the students, which come as a result of the superior academic atmosphere. Through the superb academic programs, the minds of WHS students are strengthened over a three year process. As graduating seniors, the Class of 1982 left WHS with minds prepared for the world of work, college and reality which they would have to face. The academic programs of WHS had helped to further the process of preparing the minds of the graduates for this transition.

Sports — Pearls

When an athlete at Wellesley High looks back upon his or her three years, he or she realizes the many commitments he or she has made to sports.

Showing up towards the end of the summer to start double sessions for soccer or football, staying out on the field to practice your shot after the rest of the field hockey team has gone in, or waking up in the wee hours of the morning so that you can make practice for hockey, requires the desire and dedication that makes sports at our school so successful.

Attending the rally the day before Thanksgiving is a rare memory that few forget. Seeing several athletes dress up as Needham cheerleaders and watching the special game on national television, are fond memories, part of the Wellesley High athletic experience.

Whether losing a close swim meet to Needham or winning the Co-Championship of the soccer tournament, the athletes' love for the sport is a rare one, as is the love that their parents give them when they attend the numerous games, whether on a brisk fall afternoon or in damp cold hockey rink late Saturday night.

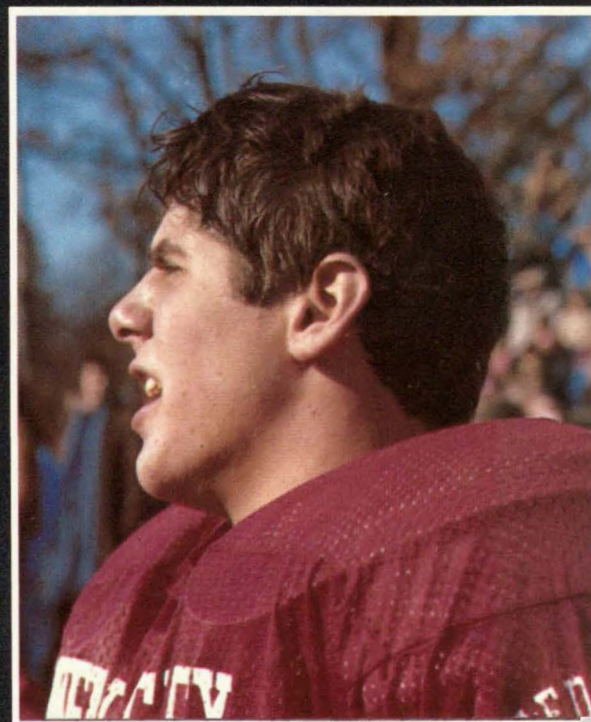

Winning is important to one of our athletes, but win or lose, the Wellesley High athlete knows he or she has given his or her best effort.

Settings

The settings of the seniors are the places in which they are most often found. The senior class of 1982 relaxed in various places around the high school. Among them are the new library, the mezzanine, the cafeteria, the parking lot, the halls, and occasionally in classrooms. On the weekends, the class of 1982 could easily be found hanging around Danny's Subs and Pizza, the Waban Arches, the Plateau, and of course, Big Dave's basement.

VALUES OF THE CLASS OF 1982

"What do we value most in life?" We asked ourselves some significant questions in this poll as we entered our last year of high school. The gems and jewels, which embody the theme of our 1982 yearbook, symbolize the qualities and values we cherish most dearly. Among the top values were friendship, love, family and health. These values are illustrated in pictures on the following two pages, and throughout the book.

It seemed significant that friendship should be the top values for a great majority of the class. Our friendships brought us together as a class; friendships that, unlike any gem or jewel, were invaluable, and of an everlasting brilliance.

ACADEMICS

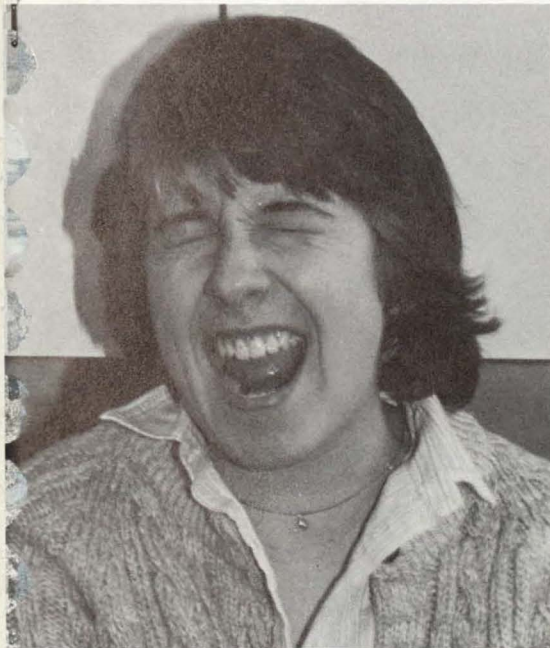

This year the high standard of academic excellence at Wellesley continued. Despite cuts caused by declining enrollment and proposition 2½, the faculty was able to offer students a comprehensive program of studies. The addition of ten new computers to the Math department enabled a greater number of students to participate in the computer classes.

The new principal, Ms. Sellers, was instrumental in preparing the curriculum for adaptation for the ninth grade class, which is coming to the High School in the fall of 1983.

The heavy demands placed on the High School to maintain the zero based budget did interfere to some degree with the priority of excellence in education. For example, journalism was eliminated for next year; the yearbook will no longer be a course for credit.

The sapphire symbolizes clear thinking. The academic program of each senior is a facet of the cutting and polishing process of high school in preparation for the future.

International Baccalaureate

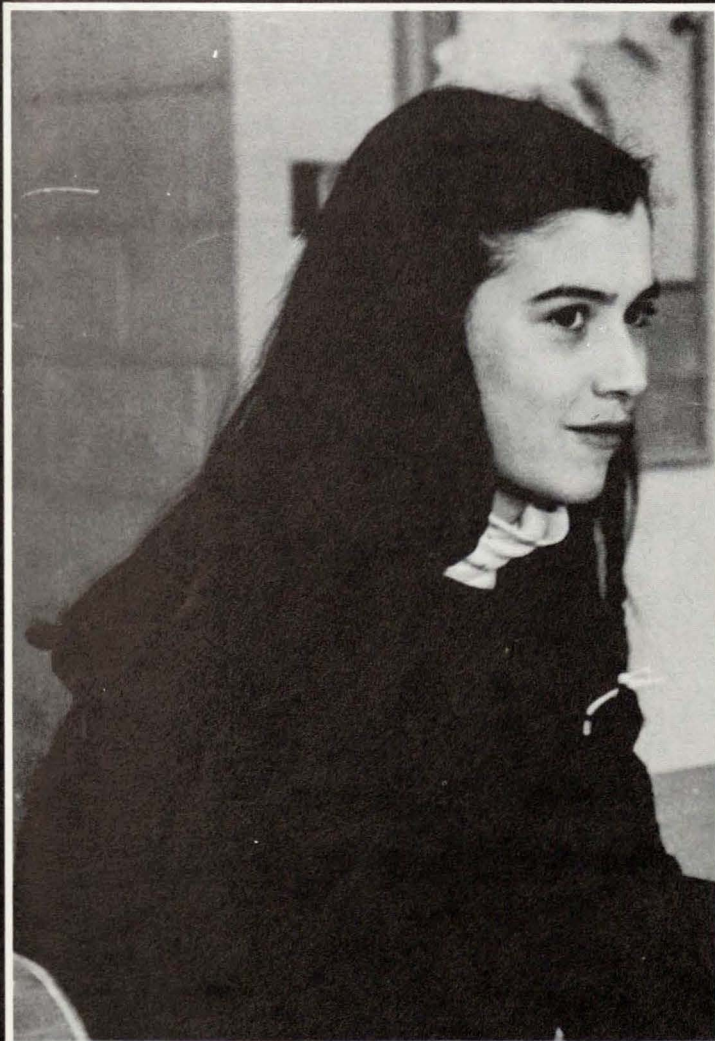

Miss Moore enjoyed working with the IB students.

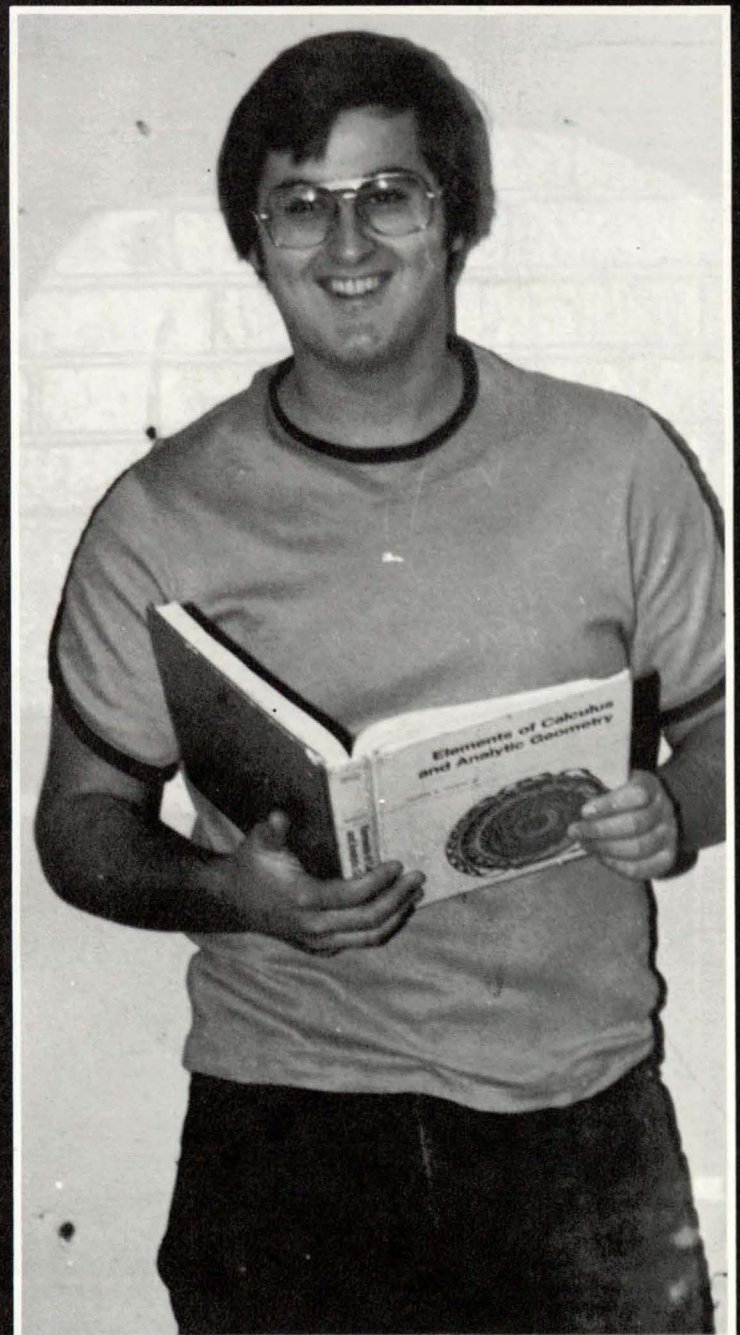

Wellesley High School is one of thirty-two secondary schools in the nation to offer the International Baccalaureate program. Now in its second year at WHS, the IB program is headed by Miss Lynn Moore. It is extremely rigorous, requiring each candidate to take a heavy course load, as well as to participate in a number of activities specifically formulated for the IB program. Upon completion of the program, each candidate is required to take an exam in each of his or her six courses and to submit an extended essay concerning one of his or her chosen subjects.

The IB provides a regimen of studies and an entrance exam recognized at universities throughout the world. Not only is the IB invaluable to students wishing to apply to foreign universities, but it is also highly respected by American institutions, that are aware of the maturity and dedication necessary on the student's part for the completion of such a program. Most colleges and universities waive freshman requirements for students who have earned IB diplomas, presenting a cost savings of up to $10,000 for one year's tuition.

Miss Moore is not alone in her excitement over the instigation of this important option. She comments, "I think it says something about the kind of education we have here in Wellesley."

"It can't be as bad as that, Alexa!" (Alexa Carls)

English

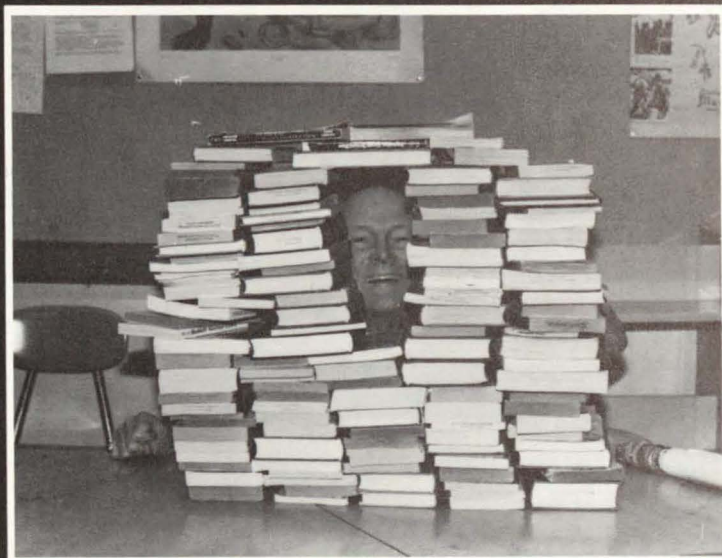

The English Department, one of the largest in the school, as English is a requirement, consists of fourteen teachers, three of whom are part-time. The department offers a large and varied selection of writing, literature, and skills in electives. The sophomore program is American Literature, and Juniors and Seniors attend electives. Class sizes vary according to popularity and students' scheduling, but the basic class-size guideline is twenty-one students. The reduction of staff and consolidation of offerings is caused not only by Proposition 2½, but also by declining enrollment. Both journalism and yearbook will not be offered next year, illustrating the trend in minimizing course offerings.

The head of the department, Mr. Brooks Goddard, speaks highly of the teachers under his direction. He asserts, "Our versatility is the best aspect, virtually every member of the department could teach any course, and another is their willingness to accept the challenge."

Foreign Language

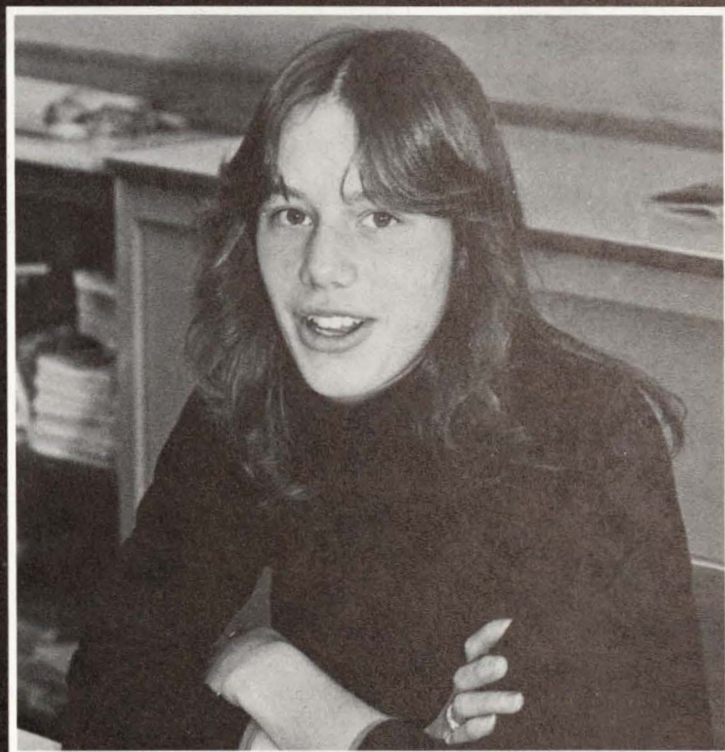

This year, seventy percent of the student body participated in Wellesley High School's excellent language program. The department offers courses in French, Spanish, German, Latin, and a minor in Ancient Greek. They also sponsor several cultural exchange programs with foreign countries. Mr. Cafer, the head of the department since 1961, said that despite the setback of language, teachers from 10.4 to 9.4 this year, "Wellesley still has a fine reputation of language across the country and at universities. Mr. Cafer also expressed the hope that the use of high technology in the form of video tapes and computers would be increased in the language laboratory to maximize the efficiency of the department.

The department has already introduced the use of video tapes to help the students gain experience in the actual use of a language. For example, students produced commercials in their foreign language, then replayed and watched the productions. This innovative project provided impetus for the students to explore the application of what they had learned in the classroom.

The Social Studies department, lead by Mr. Gardner Marchant, is one of the oldest departments in the school. With four of the teachers having taught for more than twenty years at the high school, this department boasts of an extremely devoted and enthusiastic staff.

Although declining enrollment and lack of budget increases are increasingly difficult aspects with which to deal,

Mr. Marchant asserted that neither the present curriculum nor the staff are likely to change. However, as we go to press, the central office is recommending that the personnel in this department be cut by one full position. Mr. Marchant does feel that the Department offers a superior sequence of courses that start at the Junior High and range in levels.

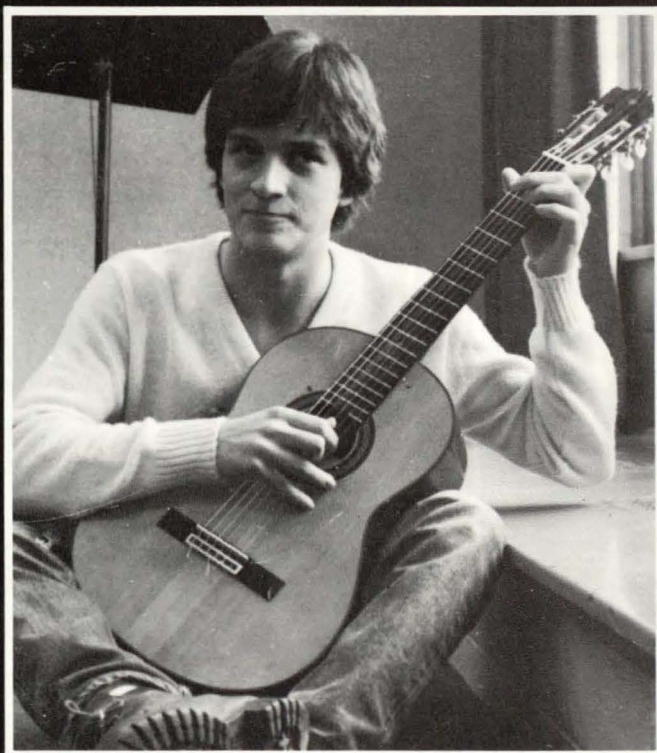

Social Studies

Independent Study is a highly individualized project which can be pursued for credit by anyone interested in on-the-job education. Students commit at least four hours per week to a learning experience which takes place outside of the school environment. A wide variety of options is available, including everything from accounting to veterinary medicine.

Each year, between seventy-five and ninety students take part in some form of Independent Study, including Senior Internship, which is a more intensive project involving time off from the school day.

However, as we go to press, the Central Administration has decided to eliminate this highly successful program. No longer will students be able to learn through the Independent Study Program.

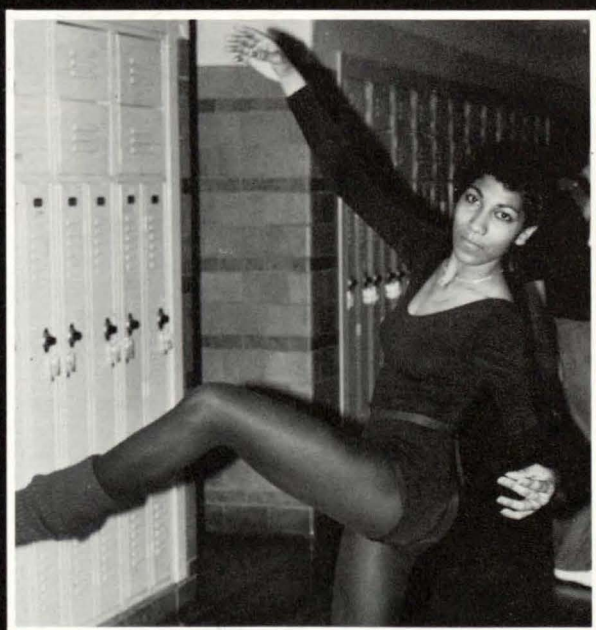

The Work Study Program was divided primarily for the non-college bound students who want job experience. Mr. Rocky Edwards has coordinated this program since 1970. The student can elect work-study as a semester or year major and receives two and a half credits per half year. However, the department has run into some problems with different laws. For example, although some students are fully competent in auto-body work, they are prohibited by law from being paid for it. Mr. Edwards would like to see the government, revise antiquated labor laws that restrict the students from working in certain fields.

The business department, headed by Mr. Robert Aldrich, is an area that encompasses a wide variety of courses varying from Typing to Accounting. Comprised of a small devoted group of teachers, the department serves the student population in a variety of aspects.

Mr. Aldrich asserts that the budget, not declining, is his department's major obstacle. It has become increasingly difficult to keep machines such as the typewriters in working order and also supply the needs of the accounting classes. The latter class cannot be taught without practice kits for every student.

The department worked on a new program with the English department which would have combined the Yearbook and Journal Page publications into classes run by both departments, but this was eliminated by the Central Administration.

A.B.C. , which stands for "A Better Chance," gives intelligent and highly motivated, but underprivileged, inner-city students from around the country the opportunity to live and attend high school in an academically superior environment, such as Wellesley. The purpose of the privately funded program is to give these students the education and experience needed to go on to some of the better higher education institutions in the country.

A.B.C. has run a house in Wellesley for three years. This year, six girls from cities around the country live with Mr. and Mrs. Robinson, the coordinators of the program for the past two years. Mr. Robinson stated that the program could not survive without the support of the community and the high school. Wellesley is pleased to continue to support this worthwhile program.

Music

The Music Department consists of three teachers; Mr. Davis, Mr. Donald Sullivan, and Mrs. Gloria Neise. Mr. Davis instructs all the courses concerning instrumental music, such as the stage band, the orchestra. Mr. Sullivan and Mrs. Neise instruct the students in choral groups. This department serves twenty-four percent of the student body with six instrumental courses and eight choral offerings, some of which are considered to be extra-curricular activities. Because of declining enrollment and proposition 2½, this department has suffered many cuts; the course selections dropping from twenty-four in previous years to six presently. However, Mr. Sullivan is optimistic that with the addition of the ninth grade at the High School in 1983, the Music Department will again be able to increase and improve upon the quantity and already superb quality of its selections.

Twenty-seven percent of the student body participates in Wellesley High School's extensive art program which offers eighteen courses. These courses range from courses in jewelry, studio drawing, printing, and photography, to drama and dance. There are 2.8 art teachers, one drama teacher, three dance teachers and one photography teacher. Art teacher Mrs. Stoddard commented, "I want to give students enough background in a variety of arts so that the serious student who wants to go on to an art school will have enough material for a portfolio, and the regular student will have enough background in color and construction to be able to apply it to daily life. I feel that these are the goals of the entire Art Department."

Home Economics

This year 360 students participated in the comprehensive Home Economics program. The students are enrolled in a wide range of courses including International Foods, Gourmet Foods, "From the Bakery," Nutrition, Clothing Textile and Design courses, Family living and Child Development courses, Consumer Economics and Interior Design. The dept. also offers a child study lab which is a nursery school for three and four year olds. Thirty high school students per semester participate in this program, teaching the fourteen pre-schoolers. Many of the students will continue their study of home economics by majoring in one of the various fields at the college level. One of the students found that the home ec program had practical values, she remarked, "You learn to be thrifty." Another student commented, "Home Economics helps you in later life. It provides fundamental life skills."

Mrs. Lynn Novogroski, the head of the department agreed, saying, "The skills the students learn in the Home Economics courses are skills that they will use throughout their lives."

Industrial Arts

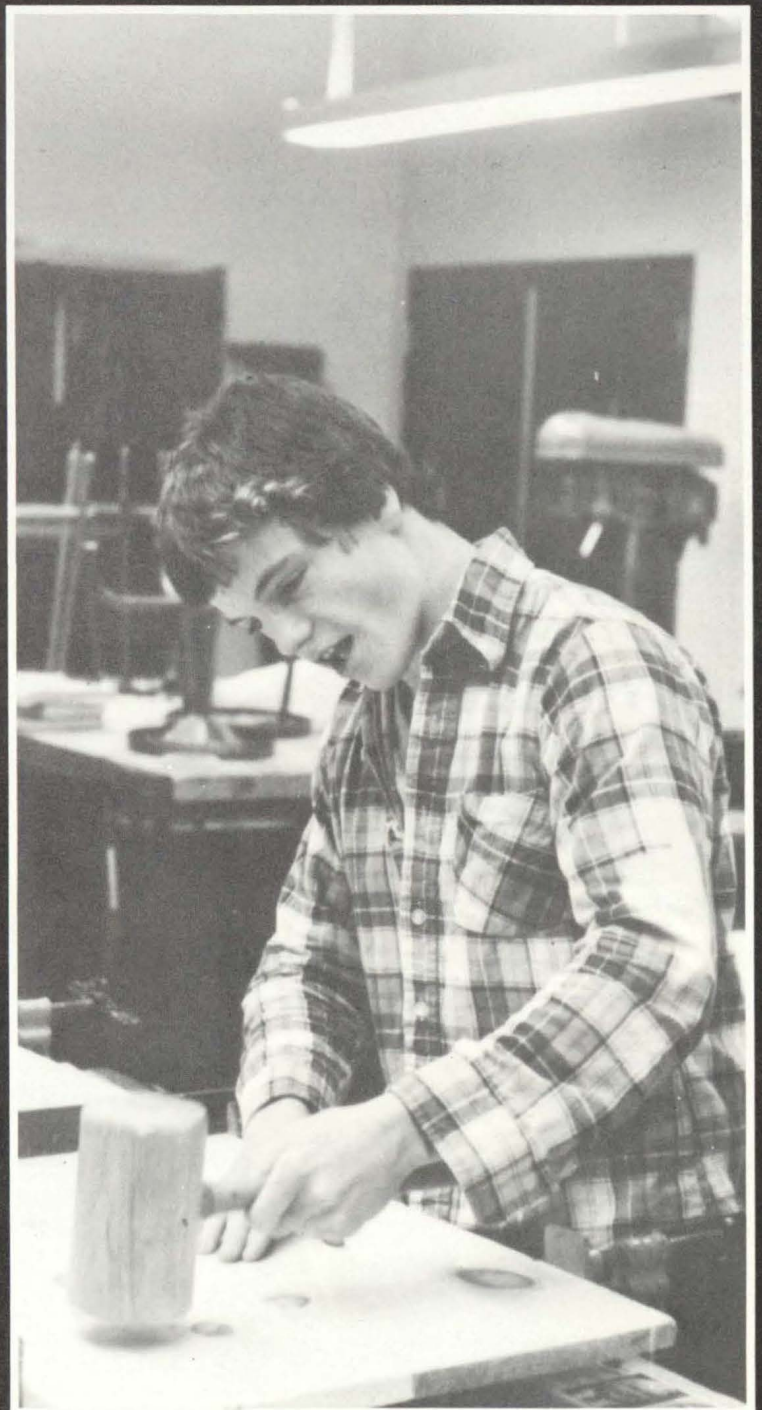

This year, 320 students participated in the Industrial Arts program. The three strongest areas of enrollment were wood working, architectural drawing and automotives. The department also offered courses in electronics, graphic arts and metal work. The technical background provided by industrial art courses is helpful for students who wish to continue in college engineering programs or two year technical schools. For other students, taking courses in this dept. can help them make career choices or aid them later in life. Mr. Kenneth Stone, the head of the dept., expressed the desire to have more female students participate in the program, especially in the graphic arts and automotive programs. He also commented, "There's a rapport between the students and the teachers in Indus. Arts. You really get involved with the students."

Mathematics

During the 1981-82 school year, the Math Department at W.H.S., under the direction of Joe Andrew, continued to offer comprehensive, high-quality education not only in mathematics, but also in computer sciences, recently added to the math curriculum.

Mr. Andrew commented, "the Math Program is one of the most comprehensive programs in the State," then he went on to say that, "However, due to budgetary restraints and class size policy, we have been forced to consolidate courses."

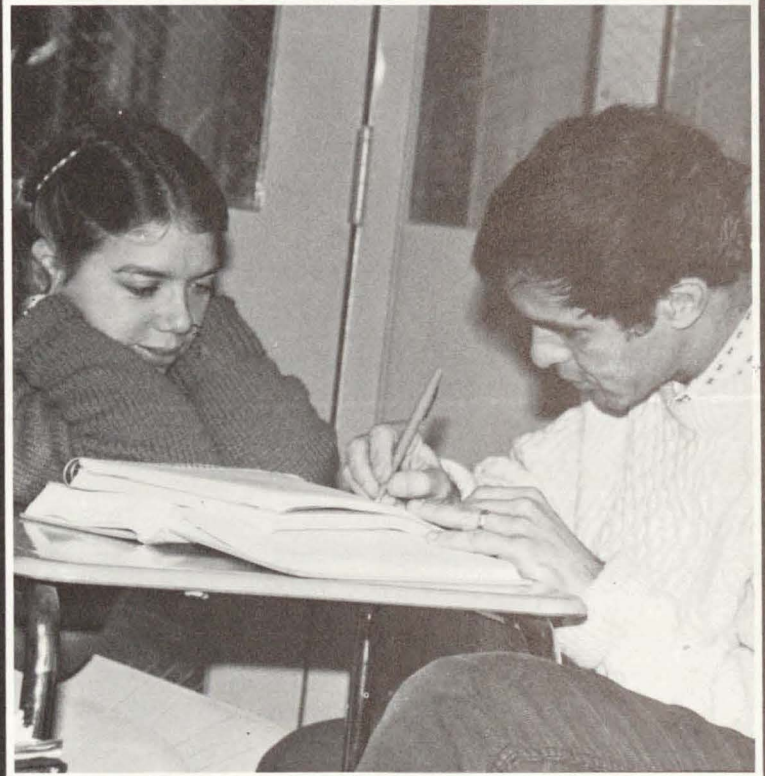

Despite the consolidation of a few courses, the department continues to participate in the Advanced Placement program, the International Baccalaureate program, college prep programs, and the Technical Math Program.

The latter is a program in which students learn mathematics in a practical way, in conjunction with Industrial Arts. The purpose is to give students the opportunity to, "See mathematics at work in a real situation."

The main task at hand for the department is to prepare a curriculum for the four-year high school. A proposed curriculum has been presented to the Advisory Curriculum Committee. The time between now and the beginning of school in 1983 will be spent revising and rewriting an appropriate curriculum.

Mr. Andrew also praised the qualified staff of the Math Department, "whose background and abilities are the reasons for the success of our program." Mr. Andrew commented on the students who actively participate in the math program by saying, "their achievements here and at college are something which we are Proud. They are people in general, who have outstanding character . . . They have a serious sense of purpose, and we enjoy working with them."

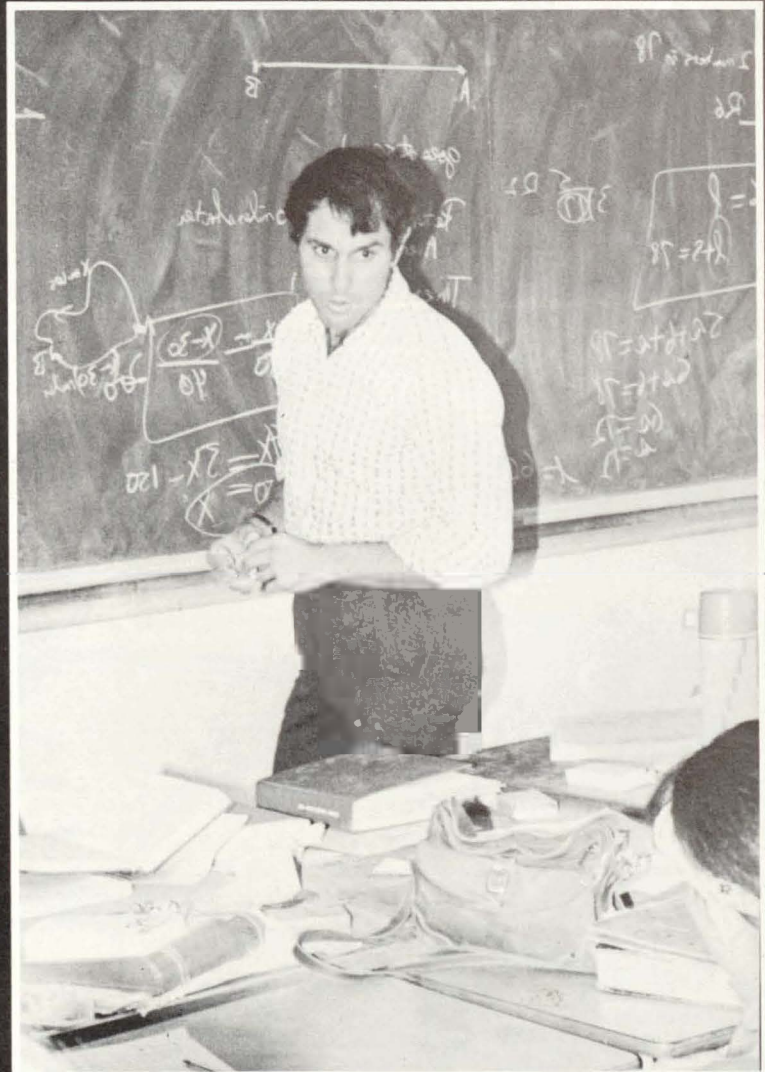

He said in conclusion, "The math program offers mathematical education for all; there is something for everyone . . . Our goal is to maintain this record in the future."

Vocational Education

The Quinobin Regional Vocational Technical School program is in its third year. Wellesley participates in this program with Dedham, Milton and Natick. This special needs school prepares students for careers in their fields of study after the completion of their three year program. The students attend Wellesley High School for half the day and then return to study for the other half of the day at Quinobin.

With emphasis "hands on" training, responsibility, eagerness to learn and pride of workmanship. The program offers courses in carpentry, cabinet making, commercial art, electricity electronics, heating, air conditioning, landscaping, masonry, painting and decorating. Presently twenty-three students participate in the program. Mr. Edwards, the coordinator of the program, feels that the program offers a valuable opportunity to some students and wishes that more students would take advantage of it.

Although Physical Education is a required minor, meeting only two times a week, the flexible program offers something interesting for just about everyone. The majority of the students take advantage of the regular program which consists of three tracks each term which offer activities ranging from Adventure I and II to team sports to fitness. For the student who has missed many classes and lacks the time to make them up, a new unique student/parent contract which both the student and the parent sign, states that the dept. will allow a senior to participate in a phys. ed. program outside of school. Thirty hours is required for one half credit. One credit is needed per year. Mr. Michael Mastro, the chairman of the dept., stated his theory in saying "We're trying to involve the total student body in some sort of physical activity because we think it's important." Proof that this is a practiced theory is seen in the alternate programs in which seven students participated this year because of adjustment problems and in the one-on-one adaptive program beginning next year which will deal with students with physical handicaps and obesity problems. Mr. Mastro remarked that the "purpose of phys. ed. is socialization and exposure to lifetime sports such as jogging and volleyball." In other words, have fun in gym and learn to play sports for use in later life.

The Health Department, headed by Mrs. McCaskill is a department that serves one hundred percent of the student body for one semester of their three high school years. The department, consisting of two part-time teachers, offers one course. This course is required for graduation, therefore, enrollment is more predictable than it is in other courses. The course, Human Fitness, is a semester course and is taken during the sophomore year.

The science department, headed by Mr. Paul Lydon, consists of fourteen teachers. The department offers a wide variety of courses including Physics, Chemistry and Biology at three different levels, and second year selections of both Biology and Chemistry. Mr. Lydon claims that declining enrollment is not causing large changes in staff but that budget restrictions force teachers to use old materials for an extended period of time.

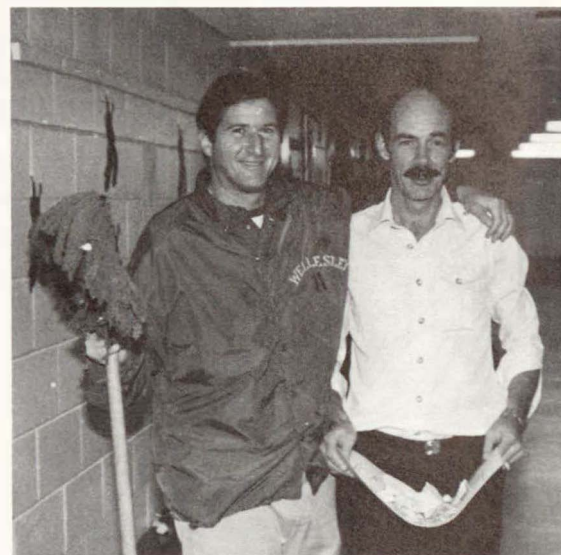

Besides the wide variety of courses offered, the Science Department sponsors yearly field trips to such places as the Primate Center, Museum of Science, New England Aquarium, and Madd General Hospital. It is the willingness of a conscientious and concerned staff to participate in such events that distinguish this department.

There are many factors that go into the molding of a refined, well-educated "diamond", which represent seniors in the theme of the 1982 Wellesleyan. In contrast to underclassmen, seniors have the extra year or two of attention and dedicated from the jewelers, who are portrayed by the fantastic faculty at Wellesley High.

The jewelers offer their knowledge and experience to smooth the jagged edges and create most valuable creations, Diamonds, which are great assets to the school. The jewelers must be creative, imaginative and diligent in their work in order to produce the unaffected, natural beauty of diamonds. The jewelers' finished diamonds, each unique in character, go off into the world hoping to invest their qualities into some college or business. The jewelers receive the satisfaction of hearing about the success some of their inspired works have achieved. There is a great deal of pride that culminates between the jewelers and the diamonds. An understanding and respect grows for the jewelers as they endow their knowledge into the ageless beauty of the diamond. A diamond is a symbolic jewel, associated with wealth, wisdom and infinity, all desirable qualities. Ironically, Miss Milot, in the math department, worked in a jewel factory prior to teaching, and values this experience very much.

The jewelers have a great influence on the intricately designed senior diamonds. After three years of guidance by the faculty, the seniors emerge as young, adults, capable of facing problems and well prepared to confront them. Diamonds are forever.

Administration and Secretarial Staff

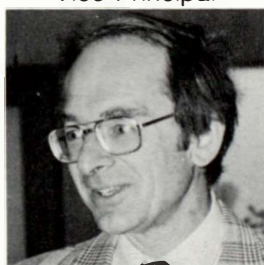

Wellesley High is pleased to announce the success of new principal Ms. Susan Sellers. Ms. Sellers has worked hard to earn her already respected reputation and has shown her school spirit by attending dances and sporting events. The Wellesley High administration is once again supportive and helpful. Mr. Vasaturo who started out here as a biology teacher, is now the Assistant Vice-Principal. Although the students tease him he is cared for by students and teachers alike. When Mr. Vasaturo is not at one of the school events, he enjoys woodworking, gardening, and other outdoor activities. The other Assistant Vice-Principal is Mr. Carbone. Mr. Carbone enjoys chess, tennis, and all sports. Fran Esposito has decorated her office with her own creative designs in watercolor. All the secretaries are devoted plant lovers and secret candy lovers (As anyone who digs in Mrs. Bouzan's Drawer well knows!)

Guidance

How do the people, who spend so much time listening to our complaints, changing our schedules, and guiding us through our high school years, spend their time? Each of our faithful counselors spends his or her time doing something enjoyable. Mr. Harmon, the director of the Guidance Department, spends his free time skiing, and playing hockey during the winter, sailing and tennis in the summer. Mrs. Coleman enjoys building and decorating houses along with sewing and sailing. Mr. Duggan enjoys construction or driving a truck, while Rocky Edwards enjoys playing all sports and collecting antiques. Mr. Touhey spends most of his free time with water sports and also enjoys making weather observations. Mr. Mazukina is a man who has held every job imaginable. Working as a mildman, lifeguard, laborer, salesman, and ticket seller, our Mr. Mazukina has developed a taste for life that few individuals can experience.

English

Ms. Barrett enjoys a Saturday football game.

The English Department at Wellesley High consists of a unique group of people who share their experience and knowledge with all the students to result in an excellent English Program. All our English teachers have taught in Wellesley five years or more. Faculty changes this year are the absence of Mr. Hadlock and Mrs. Mongell, who have gone to the Jr. High. Outside of teaching, many teachers have interesting hobbies which they practice in their spare time. Mrs. Rosenfield writes poetry and has had one book published and a second book coming up; Mrs. Fitzpatrick, (Mrs. Caefer's sister) weaves fabric on a loom; Mr. Griffin has a solar house; Mrs. Alexander is taking a course in psychology; Mrs. Ress is a new grandmother; Mrs. Goddard enjoys listening to opera and making brownies, and Dept. Head, Brooks Goddard lived and traveled in Africa. Mrs. Barrett devotes much of her time helping the students and teaching them about all the work that goes into making our prize winning yearbook. Many teachers have successful adult children or younger children. All these accomplishments comprise the well rounded English Department at Wellesley High.

The Reading Department

The Reading Department at the high school is very valuable to those students who may have difficulty with certain academic subjects. The two people involved in the reading program are Miss

Gordon and Mr. Parsons. Miss Gordon enjoys bicycling and canoeing and Mr. Parsons works with emotionally disturbed and retarded children during the summer. During his free time, he enjoys boating, theater and music.

Metco

Ms. Smith, the Metco advisor at Wellesley High has brought a unique perspective to the program because Ms. Smith, a graduate of Wellesley High, is a product of the successful program.

Ms. Smith's main interest, inside and outside of Wellesley High is writing poetry. She has been writing poetry since she was 12. She spends many hours reading works by other poets. One of her ambitions is to publish a book of poetry. She enjoys working with water colors and inks to make greeting cards for friends and family. Ms. Smith is also enrolled in a modern dance and jazz class in her free time.

The various facts of Ms. Smith's creative personality assure the success of the Metco program.

Library/Media Center

Perhaps one of the most difficult positions at the Wellesley High School is that of librarian. Qualifications for this job include kindness, willingness to help, patience and above all, a thick skin. Everyday these quiet and good natured women must deal with the unlimited supply of rabble rousing students found at WHS. Their jobs are hectic ones and it is necessary that they find a way to relax after a long hard day at work. Mrs. Haines, the head librarian, enjoys rug braiding, furniture refinishing and gardening. Our library would be incomplete without the humor of our Mrs. Haines. The always smiling Mrs. Carpenter partakes at such hobbies as painting, playing the piano, sewing, and cooking.

Mrs. Messer, Mrs. Kangos, and Mrs. Keefe are the athletes of the group, as they enjoy many sports ranging from golf to bowling. All these ladies also love to cook.

Mrs. O'Rourke relishes long walks, her family, and working in the kitchen. Much more credit is due to these woman then they receive. They take a difficult job and make it easy.

Mathematics

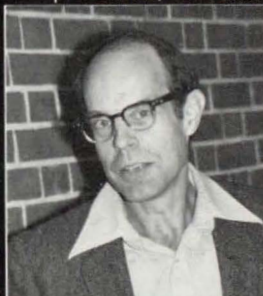

The Mathematics Department, headed by Mr. Joseph Andrew is comprised by an extremely intelligent and sensitive group of people. The two winners of faculty with the most school spirit are from the Math Department; Miss Milot and Mr. Tiberio. The enthusiasm of the department is made evident by this fact. Coinciding with his career, Mr. Barr has an interest in computers; Mr. Sullivan is the best amateur golfer in Massachusetts; Mr. Kerivan Sr. is involved in construction and builds houses and Miss Milot values her experience working in a jewel factory prior to teaching. Contrary to popular belief, Math teachers do have interests other than numbers and our superb faculty proves this.

The Business Department is one of the most popular and successful departments. Mr. Aldrich is the Chairman of the Business Education Department. His staff consists of a number of dedicated teachers. Mr. Conaty, who runs the School Store, helps many students get jobs; his interests lie in photography and aviation. Miss Copell has a summer home in Swampscott and enjoys tennis, skiing and golf. Her work prior to W.H.S. was in the Pentagon, NASA, accounting and tax prep. Mrs. Fine did volunteer work for many civic organizations and enjoys gardening, golf, reading and baking. Mr. Hall, administers distribution of school supplies, has an interest in running, and household gardening and maintenance. Miss Hickey lives on a farm and has a great interest in horses. She enjoys gardening, music and ballroom dancing.

The faculty of the Social Studies Department is changed by the absence of Mrs. Hadlock and the addition of Mr. Rives, who has taught in Athens, Greece. Mr. Gardner Marchant, Department Head, is a history buff and collects artifacts which he displays in his home. Mr. Campbell is a Driver Education instructor, Mr. Burgess organizes school tours to Washington D.C., and Mr. Kerivan Jr. is working with the Big Brother/Sister Program and is the Student Government Advisor. These are some of the personalities that comprise the Social Studies Department. Mr. Rives, the Psychology teacher taught at the American School in Athens and lived in Greece for two years. He has also visited India and other countries around the world. His experience will surely be an asset to the department.

The success of the Foreign Language Dept. can be attributed to the dedicated teachers. Since Mr. Esposito took over the Latin Program, enrollment has increased and the same applies for Miss Moore and the I.B. Program. Many teachers spend their free time or summers enjoying hobbies. Mrs. Avots, a gourmet pastry cook, helps to entertain the guests of her husband's International Business; Mrs. Grodberg is a plant expert; Mr. Haggerty is interested in gourmet cooking; Mrs. Lowy has traveled worldwide with her husband, a distinguished psychologist at Boston University; Mrs. Stueart visited Figi, Guam, and New Zealand this past summer; Miss Moore is preparing for her M.B.A. at Babson; Mr. Ubaldino has a beautiful garden and is a "pun-expert;" Mr. Brown lived and studied in Mexico and Spain; Miss Mulry enjoys spending time with her family; and Mr. Caefer, department head for 20 years, enjoys sailing on his beautiful sailboat. These unique characteristics make the Foreign Language Department special.

The Science Department has had a few changes since last year. Because of Prop 2½, there have been no new course offerings and due to declining enrollment have had to delete Astronomy and Agricultural Science, which were both one semester courses.

Under the leadership of Mr. Lydon, the department goals are to prepare students for Biology in the college level, make students more aware of the Biological Sciences in their lives, and to give students the opportunity to work like scientists.

While one teacher, Mr. Howard, was lost due to retirement, there was one teacher added. Mrs. Hoult, a graduate of Wellesley College, teaches sophomore Biology at all three levels, and currently has two daughters Laura and Molly enrolled at the high school. We, the entire Yearbook staff would like to congratulate Mrs. Hallowell on the birth of her new baby.

Art

The Art Department at the high school has always been a solid department. Mr. McGoff worked at one time for General Electric as an industrial designer and then went on to design clocks for Westclock. Mr. McGoff enjoys skiing and boating and is a member of the Audobon Society. Mr. Rutledge has worked as a photographic reporter for The New Haven Register and The Patriot Ledger. Other than photography, Mr. Rutledge enjoys listening to music, and going to the movies. Mrs. Stoddard is a professional calligrapher for memorials, books, churches, and synagogues. Along with calligraphy, Mrs. Stoddard is an avid figure skater who passed the National Preliminary Testing in freestyle and figures and she plans to take the first step in the nationals during 1981.

The 1981-2 Music Department is once again comprised of the three stalwart individuals who have successfully directed the music department for the past few years. Mrs. Gloria Niese, Mr. Donald Sullivan, and Robert Davis have all worked together to provide a program which appeals to performers and non-performers alike. Next year the head of the Music Department, Mr. Sullivan will be retiring, but Mrs. Niese, who splits her time between the High School and Jr. High, will become a full time faculty member at the High School. Mr. Sullivan has made three concert tours throughout Europe, both as a performer and director, while Mr. Davis was a member of the Houston Texas Orchestra and performed with the Chateaudenville Orchestra. Although music is the major focus of their lives, the members of the Music Department have many other interests.

Every sophomore that enters the high school must pass one semester of Health. There is only one full time and one part time teacher for this large group of students. The two teachers are Mrs. McCaskill and Robert Burke A.T.C. Mrs. McCaskill has been here for 7 years as the only full time Health Teacher. Mrs. McCaskill is a graduate of Nursing from Meharry Medical College in Nashville TN. Mr. Burke A.T.C., who teaches health part-time can be seen at just about all sporting events as the athletic trainer.

One of the few departments in which all students must participate is that of Physical Education. Twice a week (and sometimes more) each of the 1,200 students must participate in the joys of Physical Education. Who is responsible for this fun and good health? Our illustrious physical education staff.

Known to us as only incredible physical specimen, most people fail to realize the many unique and interesting activities in which our athletic leaders participate.

Mr. Mastro has been reported to spend a lot of his time in the woods. Perhaps while enjoying his hobby of stained glass. Mr. Mastro also dabbles in the art of auto repair and listening to music. Mr. Loiter loves to coach (both the boys soccer and boys j.v. basketball), and to play golf and struggle the intricate folly of building wooden model ships.

Mr. St. Cyr is involved extensively with gymnastics and physical fitness, and he also directs the new Nautilus center at the Babson Recreational Center.

For those of you that didn't know it before, the Physical Education Department is not just a group of great bodies, but a highly sensitive group of intellectual free-thinkers.

Nurse

Mrs. Ray, our school nurse, is a great help for the well being of the school. Mrs. Ray has experience in public nursing and psychiatric nursing and now makes her career in nursing. Mrs. Ray has a great interest in plants and makes her own wine.

Activities

The stone that is representing this, the 1982 Activities section is a Garnet. This gem was selected among the others for the many similarities and parallels which can be made to the Activities of 1982.

The most obvious parallel is the brilliant red color of the gem which is also our school color. The spirit that this color holds for us is great because it signifies our town and our school. The pride that we hold for both of these is the backbone of the great turnout of the 1981 fall pep rallies, and many of our other activities.

The second reason that we chose the garnet is that inside the stone, its' composition varies as do the many students who embody our school. The diversity is broad. This is visible in the great range of students we have, from those who performed in the musicals to those who attended the seminars. All of these different people made each event new and unique.

Finally, the most important reason for choosing the Garnet, the two themes that the gem represents; dedication and faithfulness. Without these two factors there would have been no activities. Their importance although not always recognized is great. The dedication of the class officers into setting up the dances, of the pep club into preparing the rallies, of the faculty into arranging the seminars and of the actors, actresses, singers and dancers into performing each of the wonderful performances. And then there is the faithfulness that the student body showed in attending each activity with a great amount of enthusiasm. This is what filled the gym with dancers, the stands with cheerers, the class rooms with eager listeners and the auditorium with overwhelming audiences. These facets of both the Garnet and our activities is what makes the gem so appropriate for this section. And even years from now, the similarities will still be drawn, for like the bright and flashy stone, the activities that we planned for, prepared for and enjoyed will still shine brightly in our memories.

Sports Rallies

This year the annual All Fall Sports Rally was held in honor of the athletes who compete on the fall athletic teams. The rally was upbeat due to successful beginning of the fall season by all the athletic teams. The rally was emceed by SuSu Alyward and Chris Willard.

The Thanksgiving Day Rally at Wellesley High was news — national news! 1981 marked the centennial of the Wellesley-Needham Thanksgiving Day football rivalry, the oldest rivalry in the country. Due to the rivalry's antiquity, C.B.S. Television Sports found the rally and later the game worthy of coverage. The tapes of the rally and the game were aired by C.B.S. on Thanksgiving Day. Wellesley's success in the game made the rally efforts worthwhile. The Thanksgiving Day rally was emceed by Lauren Sexeny and Bonnie Halligan.

Spirit Week

What do bandanas, sweat pants and far-out hats mean at Wellesley High? They mean Spirit Week and this year the students went all out. The sophomores started out the week wearing multi-colored bandanas as a demonstration of their class spirit. The next day the juniors looked ready to jog around the block in their sweatshirts and sweatpants, showing even more school spirit. Finishing the week, the Seniors came to school decked out in sunglasses and wild hats. The Seniors' spirit shone like a neon light. The Baton, an award which recognizes the class that shows the greatest amount of enthusiasm, was given to the Senior Class at the Thanksgiving Day rally.

Halloween

Among the many events of this fall were the Halloween parties. The elementary students enjoyed the party organized by Mr. Izzo, the senior class officers and the Key Club. The attractions included apple bobbing, sponge throwing and the Key Club's Haunted House. Halloween night Marissa Bartlett opened her house to the Senior Class' coneheads, devils, mechanics and even our own "Bud Man." Both parties proved to be successful; the elementary Halloween party as a fund raiser and Marissa's as a good time for seniors.

On Friday April 30th, the Senior Class sponsored a Beach Party. The dance was held in the gym which was magically transformed into muscle beach with streamers and various kinds of fish. Although the disc jockey had technical difficulties and could not make it, the Senior class officers improvised with their own stereos and record. Beach bums from all classes enjoyed the dance.

Curtain calls — well deserved by all

The W.H.S. Drama Club

On March 18, 19 and 20, the Wellesley Senior High School presented the famous Broadway musical Cabaret. Starring Eric Hershenson, Duncan Rodgers, Bonnie Halligan, Douglas Last, and Sue Baldwin, the cast was filled with talented actors, actresses, singers and dancers. Under the direction of Sue Gniadek and Gloria Niese and with choreography by Cindy Wright, the cast of nearly fifty students was well prepared for their three performances. The enthusiastic audiences showed their approval with loud applause and several curtain calls.

Godspell

Directed by WHS seniors Bonnie Halligan and Duncan Rodgers, and also choreographed by Bonnie, the musical Godspell was performed by WHS students on May 13, 14 and 15. The show was a tangible example of the work of resourceful and motivated teenagers. The thirteen member cast began rehearsing only three weeks before their first appearance, but through their dedication, the production appeared polished and flowing.

Senior Week

May 3-7

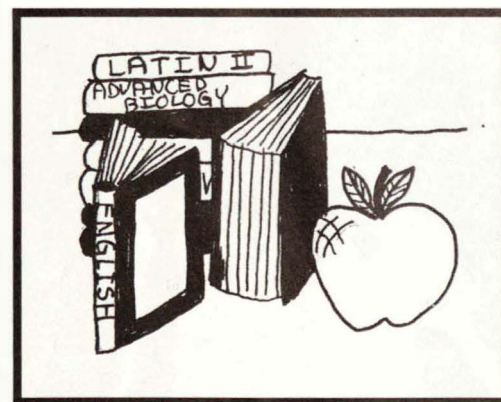

The first week of Senior Spirit Month was a great success. Monday was designated "Shh day" on which Seniors were instructed to ignore all underclassmen. Tuesday, the halls were filled with seniors wearing shorts, hats, sunglasses and Senior T-shirts. Wednesday the seniors had a picnic on the athletic fields, everyone had a great time. Bubbles day was Thursday and Wellesley High resembled the Lawrence Welk show. On Friday the seniors went to McDonald's for lunch and then to the library D, E and F periods for a party. Springfest * Speakers

From Monday, April 12, 1982, through Thursday, April 15, 1982, the Wellesley High Student Government sponsored a week of seminars. Under the helpful supervision of Gig Kerivan, the Spring Fest was organized to offer a variety of speakers to talk on various interesting topics. Not only were students and teachers able to enjoy the presentations, but also some senior citizens, with the guidance of friendly Student Government members, joined in the fun. A total of twenty seminars was held, with subjects ranging from "Around the world on $4000.00" to political issues to mime theatre to starting a small business. The endeavor involved a lot of hard work, but it was all made worthwhile by the huge success of the program.

Mr. Aldrich greets one of the guest speakers.

Athletics

Throughout the past three years, Wellesley High School has made considerable gains on and off the athletic fields. Hard work, durability, strength and determination best characterize the Wellesley athlete. Every senior has contributed in various ways to promote athletics. Like a pearl, athletes are not made overnight; it takes time and effort on the part of each individual to mold, coach and direct each athlete. The end result is a beautifully cultured pearl which manifests the illustrious qualities of sportsmanship, courage, and personality. The best pearl endures the hardest hardships, so will the Wellesley athlete. As a pearl ages, it will grow in beauty, and so shall the athletes at Wellesley.

Soccer Team Captures Second Place in Bay State League

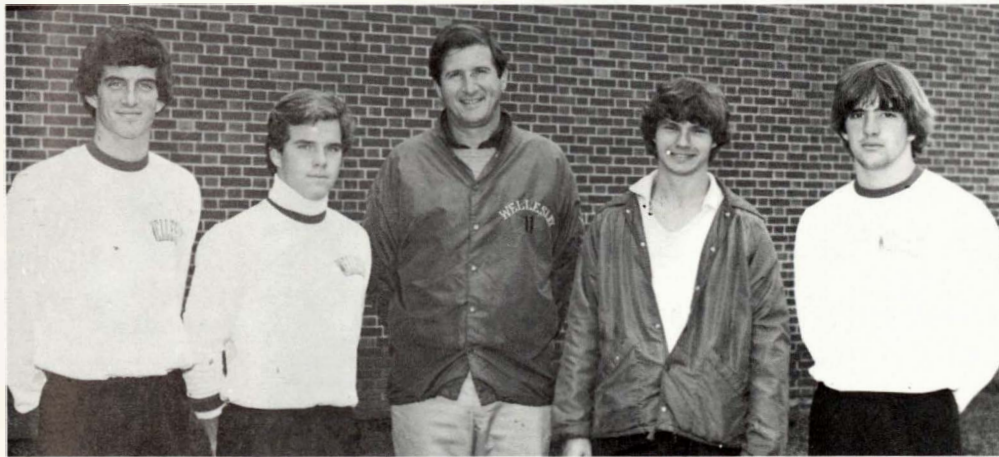

The 1981 Red Raiders Soccer Team, under the guidance of the 2nd year coach Peter Loiter, the Raiders proved that Wellesley is a dominant force in state soccer after culminating their season with a South Eastern Mass. tournament dual between Braintree and Wellesley. Unfortunately, the game ended in a heartbreaking 3-2 loss.

The team compiled a 6-4-1 record at the end of the regular season, giving them a second place title in the Bay State League. Such an accomplishment had yet to be achieved by a Wellesley team.

The squad's grand success can be attributed to the overall team effort. Scoring was led by Hal Phillips, who was also named All Star. Tri-Captains Ryan Falvey and Sean Fagan rounded out the F-troop attack line, one of the most successful Wellesley has seen.

The authority of the Raiders' team lay in the defensive corp which was fathered by Tri-Captain Eliot Putnam. Dave Eichorn, Tom Wadlington, and Tom Fontaine proved to be a continuous threat to any opponent scoring attempt. Dana Goldan was a forceful goalie, as well as Chris Fernsebner, who showed the boys from America what German soccer is really all about.

Cross-Country Had Several Close Scores

The X-country record of 6-3 was disappointing for a team who had just come off of a perfect 9-0 season. However, the fact of the matter was, they were only 2 points away from an 8-1 record. The first meet against Braintree was a hard fought one, but the outcome was 1 point victory in favor of the Wamps. The next meet against Framingham South raised Wellesley's spirits for it was an easy victory. Dedham proved to be a far better team and deserved the league title they won.

From super sophs to even better juniors, John Hughes, Ben Giele, and Pete Gleason lead the Raider's harriers to their next five victories. The last meet against arch-rival Needham was, in effect, more of a psychological struggle than a physical one. Unfortunately, this meet typified Wellesley's season, as the team lost the one point decision.

Girls' Soccer Won Eastern Mass. Championship!

For the first time in Wellesley High School history, the Girls Varsity Soccer Team became Eastern Massachusetts Co-Champions. The season brought many surprises and the ultimate satisfaction of all who participated. The bond between team members was strengthened each game and was a major factor in the success of the season.

The team looked upon this year as one to rebuild because of the graduation of many key players. With the addition of ten new players, including four sophomores, the team showed great promise.

The season opened with a win over Framingham North, followed by three more shutouts. Unfortunately, their winning streak was interrupted by a loss to Dedham. The Raiders ended the first half of a season with another three wins. In the second half, the team dominated in six of the next eight opponents they faced. Dedham's aggressive nature again showed through their win (1-0) over Wellesley. The final game against Needham ended the season with a tie (2-2) and left the Wellesley girls working in preparation for the tournament. By defeating Foxboro, Algonquin, Duxbury, and Newton North, the Raiders made it to the finals — as Coach Heller put it, "The cherry on the ice-cream sundae." The conclusive have against The Concord Carlisle Patriots resulted with Wellesley as the new Eastern Mass Co-Champs! Congratulations, girls!

Football Team Beat Needham on National Television Thanksgiving Day!

Although last year's football team record was a dismal 0-8-1, high expectations were held by the Red Raider football team as they began their long hot summer sessions. "The attitude was there," reflected coach John McDermott.

The first pre-season game provided an emotional uplift as the members of the Raider team all worked together to thwart Randolph Blue Devils' attempt to continue Wellesley's inept tradition.

After decisively defeating a tough Andover team, the Raiders were ready to begin their season.

The initial contest on the schedule was Brookline, whose 8-0 defeat marked the first time Wellesley had prevailed over its opponent in eleven games.

Next came Needham, Braintree, and Framingham North, who all fell to the Raider's potent offense and aggressive defense.

The team looked better than ever before and was rated sixth in Eastern Massachusetts Division 1 football.

Week five meant Walpole and the Raiders braced themselves for their toughest challenge of the season. The team gave its all, but suffered their first loss, 28-0.

The Walpole game proved to be only the beginning of the Raiders' problems as they went on to lose their next four games, against Natick, Framingham South, Norwood, and Milton.

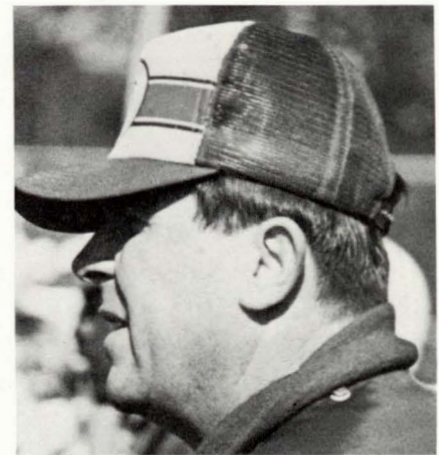

The remaining game on the Raiders schedule, was the Thanksgiving day game against arch-rival Needham. Excitement permeated the air as Wellesley took the field in an attempt to even their record at 5-5. After a hard fought battle on CBS — TV, the Raiders prevailed 6-0, in the oldest high school football rivalry in the U.S.

It was a great season for Wellesley High football as the team compiled its best record in four years. The successful season should be directly attributed to Wellesley's fine coaching and dedicated athletes.

Cheerleaders

The 1981 fall cheerleading season was busy and exciting. Several changes have taken place this year, the most noticeable being the new white uniforms, which were made possible with the aid of the new coach, Ms. Lynn Johnson, and the athletic director, Mr. Tripp. Ms. Johnson, a former high school cheerleader is presently a dance teacher at the high school. She was responsible for putting dance moves into the cheerleaders' halftime routine. As a result of the many hours of hard work, the squad exhibited great spirit, enthusiasm, and poise at the Bay State League Cheerleading Competition in Braintree on November 20, 1981.

Cheerleading

The Winter Cheerleading Squad had a successful season under the guidance of new coach Lyn Johnson. Primarily a squad consisting of underclassmen, the girls enjoyed cheering the boys basketball team in times of disappointment. Cheerleading was cancelled at the hockey games due to possible injuries. Nevertheless, the entire squad of eleven girls displayed vigilance and enthusiasm throughout the short winter season.

Field Hockey Team Finished First Year Under New Coach

The 1981 Field Hockey season began with optimism and enthusiasm. Under the guidance of a new coaching staff, the team finally adapted to the new varsity coach, Miss Molonea's new game plan and techniques. With only four returning seniors, it took a lot of hard work and dedication on the part of the players to play together as a single unit. Although most of the players had never played together previously, the Red Raiders earned a respectable place in the Bay State League Conference.

Unfortunately, the less experienced players and many serious key injuries took their toll on the Red Raider Squad. Nevertheless, the girls continued their practice with dedication and a willingness to learn, and as a result, the team improved dramatically by the end of the season. The intensity of the defensive end proved the team a formidable foe. The offense was quick and agile. However, like many years in the past, the offensive line was unable to score — a minor difficulty. The team did however, possess an abundance of talent as is illustrated with All Star Jen Ellms and Playing All Star Katie Howard-Johnson. Other dominating defensive players included Anne Elcock. Excellence was pursued by many others as well, especially forward line players: Marianne Wojnar, Janet Donovan, and Liz Mutrie. Junior Kim O'Sullivan played well, as is her family tradition. The season ended with a devastating 1-1 tie with Needham. This first year under Miss Molonea was one filled with excitement and challenge for all.

Volleyball Players Put Forth Strong Efforts

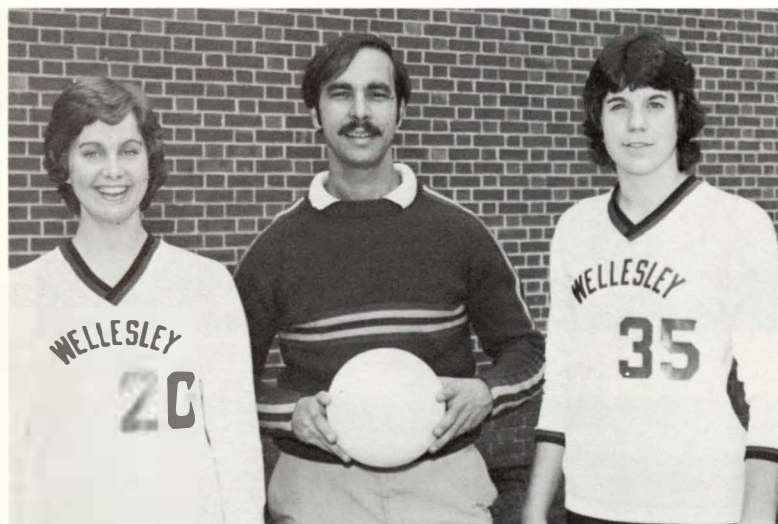

The 1981 volleyball team finished with a much improved 7-9 record which left them in a three way tie for fourth place in the Bay State League. This finish understates the team's improvement because there were only five returning players to build on. The girls were enthusiastic and were coached with spirit by Fernando Pieras, who was in his third and final year of volleyball coaching at Wellesley.

The team had a lot of ups and downs — both in the caliber of play and the team's "personality." Nevertheless, the team improved each game, capping the season with a 2-0 win over the two-time defending State champion, Braintree.

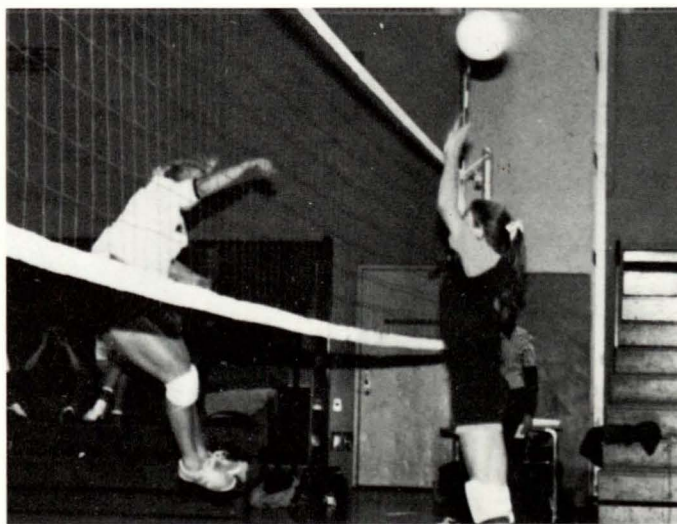

The team was co/captained by Lauren Miklavic and Betsy Reed. Other stand-outs on the team were juniors Beth Wimberly, Kathy O'Brien, and Maryellen McDowell, as well as the California sensations, the Parker sisters: sophomore Dana, and senior Jennifer, who was named to the Bay State League All-Star Team and was also the team MVP.

With all but two varsity players returning for the 1982 season, future prospects appear bright.

Golf

The Red Raider golf team had a terrific season. Coach Burgess and his team worked hard all fall and the results prove their diligence. The Raiders won all but two of their matches, finishing with an impressive record of 6-3. Under the leadership of captain Scott Armstrong and seniors Dave Marks, Lauren Sexeny, Duncan Rodgers, and Doug Wheelock, the clubbers were able to defeat some very formidable teams. Because the golf team had such a fabulous season, the galleries of spectators were enormous at the home course. On numerous occasions, police were necessary to control the hundreds of cheering fans. The golfers were able to keep their composure despite their immense popularity. Senior Dave Marks said "What can I say, we're great!" The Red Raider golf team certainly made the high school proud.

Girls Swimming

The girl's swim team ended the season with a super 6-3 record and overall 4th place in the Bay State League. The high point of the season was the exciting defeat of Needham's team 88 to 84. In the Bay State League meet, the medley relay team finished 2nd with a time of 2:07.1, divers Keri O'Brian and Erika Copen placed 2nd and 3rd respectively, with scores of 166.0 and 165.3. In addition, Gill van Loan finished 2nd in the 100 backstroke with a time of 1:10.7. Other outstanding performances in this meet were exhibited by Cathy Chase who placed 6th in both the 200 and 500 free, while Chrissy Chase finished 4th and 5th in the 50 and 100 fly, respectively. Ann Kimble took 5 in the 100 breast stroke, and the free relay team captured 4th with a time of 4:26.6. In the Eastern Mass. Sectional Championships, the medley relay team placed 5th, while Van Loan and Kimble placed as well. With many strong swimmers returning next year, both the team and coach Rick Echlov are looking forward to another winning season!

Boys's Swim Team

The 1981 Boys Swim team season was a very pleasant surprise. Picked to finish poorly in the powerful Bay State League, the Red Raiders overwhelmed many confident opponents and finished second in their division with an overall 8-3 record.

Coaching the boys for his second season, Rick Echlov imposed a vigorous training program, working diligently to improve over last year's losing season. Coach Echlov, combined with the leadership of co-captains Mark Dacey and Tom Fontaine, helped mold a team of true dedication and determination.

Sophomore George Mastras and juniors Brian Carolyn and Peter Gibson were consistent scorers for the Red Raider team. Seniors Mark Dacey, Tom Fontaine, Steve Fontaine, and Rob Grant composed a dynamite Free Style Medley that few teams could overcome. Junior diver David Dunklee added to the Raider's success with an undefeated season.

Hockey Team

Under the guidance of coach Andy Levin (alias "AJ"), the 1981-82 Varsity Hockey Team compiled an impressive record of 12-5-1. The Red Raiders, who until last year had not had a winning record in over a decade, missed a berth in the state tournament by a single point. That fatal point was lost in a heartbreaking tie with league champion Braintree.

Since he began his varsity coaching career two years ago, Andy Levin has developed Wellesley hockey into a program that commands respect from its Bay State League opponents. The leadership supplied by co-captains Sean Fagan and Dana Golden proved to be more than inspirational. At the same time, the highest goal scorer in the league, Terry Gorman, demonstrated his prowess around the net while Dana Golden showed his league leading stinginess in it. Both represented Wellesley in the All star game.

One mustn't forget, however, Chip Fagan, who for years has offered his invaluable aid to the growing program that is Wellesley's. Comparable thanks must be given to assistant coach John Chambers, who contributed countless hours, as well. In conclusion, one must admit that any group of guys who wake up at 4:00 a.m. to practice deserve praise from everyone.

Girls' Basketball

First year coach Jon Hamilton and the group of young Wellesley High hoopsters really surprised the Bay State League this year as true competitors because they just fell short of making the state tournament. Coach Hamilton has definitely started a strong girls' basketball program in Wellesley, as seen in only one year with a team consisting of just one senior, and starting three juniors and two sophomores.

Leading the way for the young squad were junior co-captains Charmaine Twigg and Lauren Miklavic. Charmaine's floor leadership at the point guard position was the key to Wellesley's running game, and thus their close victories. Lauren, the team's leading scorer and rebounder, represented Wellesley as a Bay State All-Star and earned MVP honors in the all-star game.

The entire team is returning next year with the exception of dedicated senior Jenny O'Leary. Kathy O'Brien, one of only two returning 1981 varsity players, did a fine job controlling the rebounds even with the loss of starting junior Amy Baltzell who was injured early on and unable to complete the fine season she started. With the loss of Baltzell, coach Hamilton brought to the varsity a strong rebounder and scorer, sophomore Lisa Smith, who helped for the remainder of the season. Another sophomore, Nancy Delaney, is considered one of the strongest defensive players in the league and showed much poise starting on the varsity.

Among the hard working juniors, there were: sharp-shooter Lisa Bowers, quick guard Paula Capobianco, and hustler Cathy Robinson along with sophomore rebounder Mari Derhohannesian. All were true sparks off the bench. Fortunately, all are eligible to return next year. Junior Liz Palmer, who made the 1981 varsity squad, was unable to play this year, but will hopefully be back strong for 1983 when the girls' basketball team will be sure contenders for high Bay State League and state tournament honors.

"What form!" (Nancy Delaney)

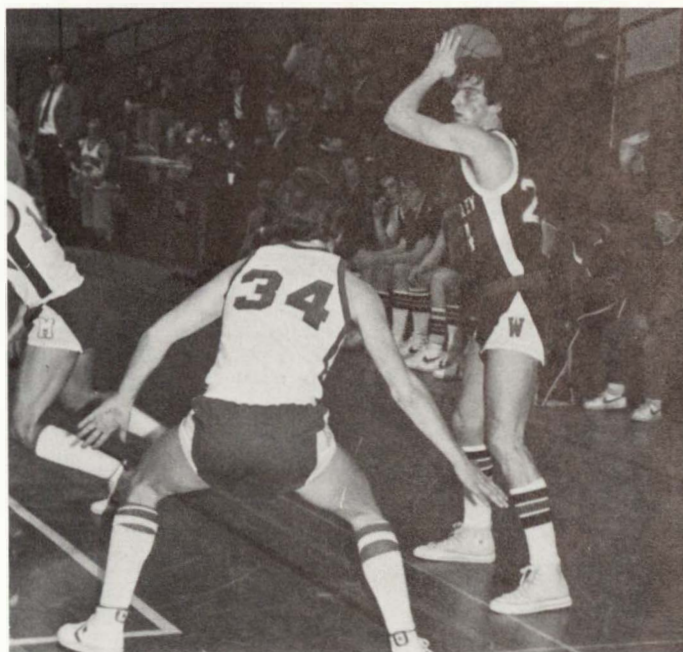

"J-U-M-P, jump boys jump!" (L to R: Jeff Haycock, Tom Tracey, and Lee Rhode.)

"Iceman, eat your heart out!" (Tim Saunders)

"GGGUUSSS!!!" (Mike Roach)

"Now that I've got, what do I do with it?" (Lee Rhode)

When any sort of athletic team has a 2-16 campaign, their season is usually described as one that was "fun." It is stated that they got along beautifully despite the trying circumstances and never gave up, no matter how demoralizing the situation became. However, the preceding descriptives can be sincerely applied to this year's varsity basketball team, who had just such a season. The players were by no means "losers" or "chokers." They simply didn't have the height or talent to keep up with their highly competitive Bay State League opponents.

The team's captains were seniors Mike Roach and Lee Rhode. Roach was the squad's leading scorer and was consistently among the league leaders in points per game. Lee Rhode, the team MVP, displayed the offensive touch and overall enthusiasm that has been typical of his play for two varsity seasons. Many other seniors contributed greatly. Jim Jackson showed enough enthusiasm and offensive spark to propell him from 11th man, at the season's outset, to 7th by the final game. Tim Saunders and Jeff Haycock provided much backcourt stability along with numerous flashes of brilliance around the hoop while Tom Tracey and Doug Felberg formidably supplied the frontcourt depth.

Coach Jim Sullivan completed his 5th varsity season with Wellesley this year. His actions on and off the court showed the class and grace that characterize his exemplary coaching attitude: sportsmanship first and foremost. Those underclassmen, who are fortunate enough to be the beneficiaries of Sullivan's coaching next year, are Antoine Parker, Jim Foley, and Chris Kelly.

Wrestling

This year's wrestling team again has an impressive season. One of the most successful Wellesley teams year in, year out, the wrestlers posted a 16-2 record, good enough for a 3rd place finish in the highly competitive Bay State League.

Under coach Paul Donovan, the team captured many state and sectional honors. Senior co-captains Mike Rogers and Bobby Doherty provide strong leadership and the winning example. Rogers won both the sectional and state championships, while Doherty placed 3rd in the sectional, and 4th in state competition.

Underclassmen that contributed were Chris Reggio (1st in sectional), Andrew Morgan (4th in sectional), and Ken Rogers (3rd in sectional). This year's seniors wish the best of luck to next year's team, who should be as strong as ever.

Ski Team

The 1981-82 Ski Team had one major advantage over the teams of past years. Three major storms dumped mounds of white powder, enabling the team to ski competitively for the entire season. The alpine team competed in four races and the nordic skied two. In the overall league standings, the cross countryers placed a strong third. Unfortunately, the alpine team needed a little more help than mother nature.

The alpine ski team relied heavily on four outstanding skiers throughout the season. Co-captain Erin Hourihan, Liz Johnson, Martha Johnson and Keith Noyes all seeded in the top fourteen of their respective leagues. Other standouts included Marianne Wojnar, Co-captain David Gregg, and Alex Besterman. Nevertheless, Wellesley ski team sophomores Russ Magnanti and Stu Mason stunned many faces with their free styling abilities.

Superstars on the cross country team were Katy Steinmetz, Nancy Anderson, Co-captain Jen Ellms, and Paul Cabiniss who all finished in the top ten of their leagues. Karen McAlpine, Alice Murphy, Scott Sheridan, Silas Filer, and co-captain Wyman Briggs skied with power and determination to bring Wellesley into third place in the Massachusetts Bay League.

Gymnastics

The Boy's Gymnastics Team had a comparatively fine season this year; particularly so when one considers the competition the guys faced. They performed against some of the strongest teams in the state: Weymouth, Braintree, and League champion Milton. However, a fresh team of composed sophomores came along this season to replace the seniors who were lost to graduation last year. These sophomores proved themselves as experienced gymnasts in both strength and ability, and combined with the upperclassmen, formed the talented and winning program that has become a Wellesley tradition.

The seniors, on the other hand, also contributed greatly under the guidance of new coach Bob Pierce and co-captains Mike McDowell and Mike Aieta. Ed Mills also progressed, adding pommel horse to his events and competing as first man on the parallel bars. Rob Twyman, who broke a leg just before the season began, fully recovered in time to consistently score well on the rings.

All factors considered, it was a successful season. The graduating seniors would like to wish the best of luck to what is sure to be one of the strongest teams in recent memory. Roberto Weil and Paul Aieta have been chosen as captains of next year's team.

The girl's gymnastics team enjoyed an unsuccessful but fun season. The team would surely have fared better against their tough Bay State League competition had they not been subjected to many heartbreaking injuries. Among those injured was co-captain Daurice Cox who missed almost the entire season. The other co-captain, Leslie Duncan, scored well all year long, along with senior Maureen Dennehy. Straight from Georgia came newcomer Erica Copen who contributed greatly, especially in the floor exercise.

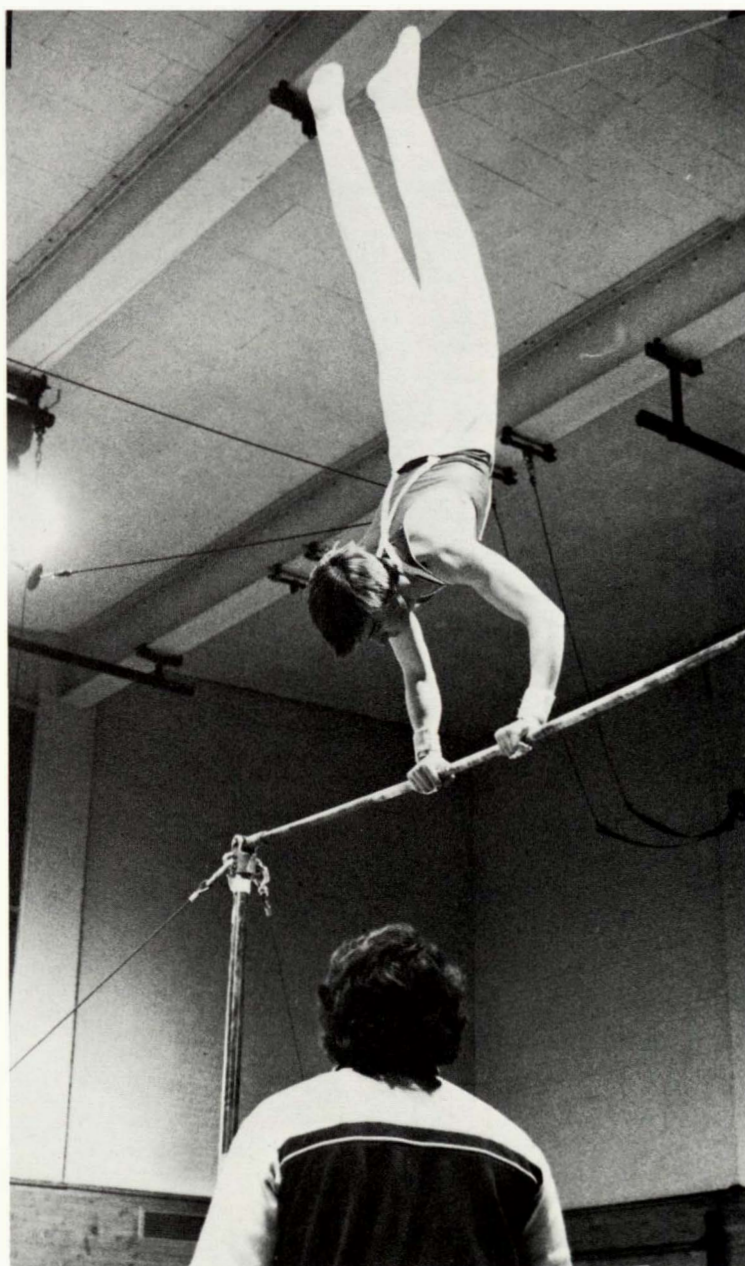

Far and away, the season's highlight was the team's lone victory over Norwood. This win was the first for Wellesley Girl's Gymnastics in over three years. On the wave of this exhilarating and monumental triumph, the team's underclassmen are eagerly awaiting next year's campaign.

Indoor Track

The 1982 Indoor Track Season finished with a reasonable record. Under the guidance of second year coach Mr. Ralph Bowman, sophomore Ed Ducey and AFS exchange student Izumi Keta both had a stupendous season. Ed Ducey placed in every race in which he ran, while Izumi won the bronze medal in the 100m. at Harvard University. He also broke the school record. Cindy Kerwin and Holly O'Neill, the only two girls, practiced diligently and always put forth a superb effort in competition. Other stand-outs included co-captain Jack McIntyre, Tom Ramsey, Gary Leet, and Bobby Bothfeld.

Baseball

The baseball team finished the season this year with a disappointing 3 and 15 record. The record does not, however, show the heart and determination of this fine team.

The superb leadership by captains Rick Nickeson and Greg Tucker was exemplified by their play on the field and at the plate. Other outstanding seniors were Kevin MacDonald, shortstop, Jim Neville, pitcher Art Love, and outfielder Dave Eichorn. Although the team only had three victories, two were against arch rivals Needham and Norwood who were chosen to win the league championship.

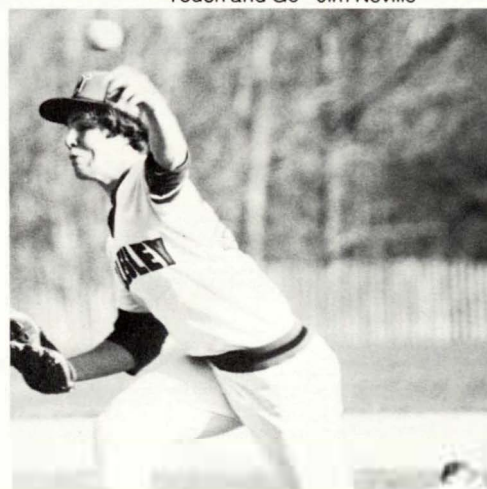

This year was somewhat of a rebuilding season for the Red Raider team. Coach George Kerivan Sr. has high expectations for next year's team.

If one is to walk down the aqueduct from Denny's in the midafternoon, he would see the JV baseball team practicing on his left; many of the tennis team on his right doing the same. The varsity baseball team will be working hard across the field to the left and the lacrosse teams will be doing running drills under the supervision of Coach Copeland.

Last but not least, one would see the softball team working intensely under the fine coaching of Dick Heller. Since Coach Heller has been in charge of the team, it has been improving. Although the team is small in number, it is large in heart. They fought all year for their place in the Bay State League. Fine leadership was displayed by the team's two captains, Jane Doherty and Lisa Cremonini, on and off the field. Additional leadership was displayed by the ever hustling senior Guthrie Morgan.

The team is only losing a few seniors and Coach Dick Heller is looking forward to a super season in '83.

Girls' LaCrosse

The Red Raider LaCrosse Team had a long and trying season. The league record of 4-7-0 was not indicative of the hard work and dedication the girls showed every day, as manifested by co-captains Katie Howard-Johnson and Marianne Wojnar. Under the new direction of coaches Carol Copeland and Chris Molonea, the Raiders practiced diligently and improved dramatically as the season drew to a close. Throughout the season, Wellesley lacrosse was known for high level of sportsmanship and incredible stickwork. Fantastic performances were consistently given by All-Stars Marianne Wojnar and Brigitte Duffy, Katie Hojo, Liz Mutrie, and Jen Elms. Defensive stickwork and determination improved incredibly as led by seniors Heather Coryell, and Lucy Golden, Junior goalie Stephanie Alfaro, and Laurie Ward. Other fine players included Erin Hourihan, Louisa Stoddard, Paula Cappabianco and sophomores Suzanne Woods and Lisa Phillips. Next year will prove to be an interesting and exciting season with yet another adjustment to new coaching for the Raider LaCrosse players.

Boys' Track

This year's boy's track team, under the guidance of coach Jack Farrell, had one of the most successful seasons in the history at Wellesley High. The guys went 8-1, the only loss coming to undefeated, league champion Braintree. The team was led by captains Tom Fontaine, Gary Leet, Mike McDowell, Hal Phillips, and Steve Fontaine. These five athletes, however, were only some of the many people who competed and scored points in the 17 events, such as: juniors John Hughes (2 mile), Pipey Gleason (mile), Ben Giele (880, mile), Jim Cox (discus), Jim Foley (javelin, 330 lows), Tom Cummings (Discus, javelin), and Antione Parker (triple, long, and high jumps, 440, sprints); Sophomores Chad Buxton (440) and Ed Duce (high jump, hurdles) were also pleasant surprises.

Seniors Alex Mimo (sprints, long and triple jumps), Jack McIntyre (shot put), and Izumi Kitade (sprints, long jump) scored consistently in every meet. School records were set and reset in the 4x110 relay every meet with the final mark standing at 44.3. Steve Fontaine bettered his old school javelin record by 10 ft. while also taking 1st in the EMass meet. Steve was also a member of the state record holding javelin relay team (519') along Jim Foley and Tom Cummings.

From start to finish, this year's track season was full of surprises, consistent improvement, and victory. This year's seniors wish all the underclassmen good luck with what should be another great season next year.

Girls' Track

Although the Girls Spring Track record was not a winning one, it was not a disappointing season; many athletes achieved personal bests and set new school records. The overall record continues to support the trend of improvement over the years.

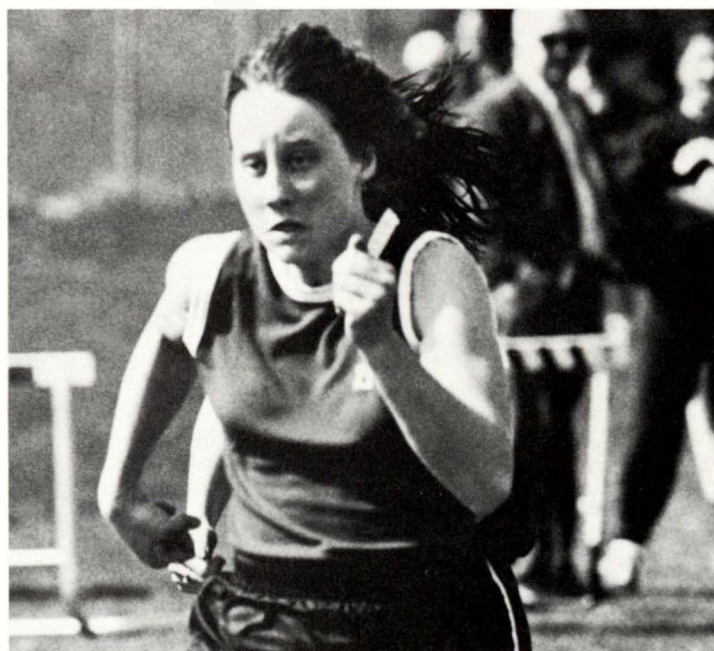

Due to unusual circumstances, (SNOW, in April) the first two meets were cancelled. Next, Framingham North defeated Wellesley by a hair, but the Raiders made a comeback crushing Walpole. For the remainder of the season the Raiders seesawed between triumphing and almost winning. The last weeks brought victories over Framingham South and Milton, and though the competition between Wellesley and the stronger teams of the league, especially Norwood and Dedham, resulted in defeat, many school records were broken and new ones achieved; and against such stiff competition many girls ran their best times.

Only five seniors survived the season. Co-captain Holly O'Neil continually placed first in the distance events, setting two school records, with Karen Crounse and Alexa Carls also scoring points. Co-captain Sarah Crowell was a crucial part of the sprint relay and scored points in the hurdles. Jenny O'Leary was our main shot-putter and achieved a personal victory in toe-touching.

A major element of team strength was the Juniors. Next year's co-captain Cindy Kirwin set two league records while Janet Murphy broke the 440 school record. The team was ably supported by co-captains Lauren Miklavic, Julie O'Leary, Suzanne Shanahan. The coaching staff was overwhelmed by the number of enlisting sophomores who speedily found their places on the team. The season was considered successful because of the many records set, but most importantly due to the amount and the intensity of the spirit generated by the team.

Boys' Tennis

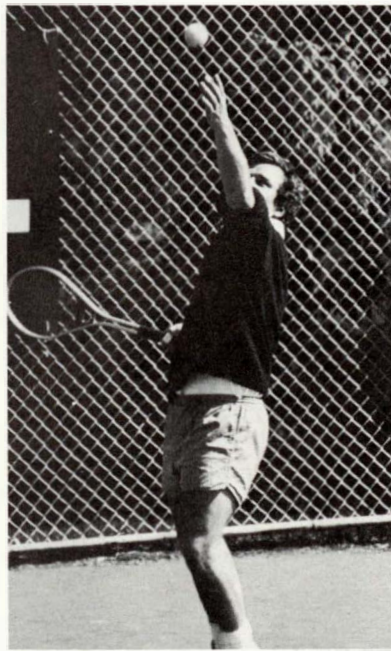

This year's Red Raider Boy's Tennis Team concluded another successful season under the leadership of Brooks Goddard. The team lost only four matches and finished third in the strongly competitive Bay State League.

Singles players Jacob Bodden and co-captain David Goganian played consistently throughout the year, and showed marked improvement by the end of the season. Sophomore Mark Falvey, who came back from an earlier injury, returned to play excellent singles in the last match of the season. First doubles was played by co-capt., Ryan Falvey and Chris Ensley with one loss. Both ended the season with a key victory over Needham's powerful team. Second doubles was held by sophomores Tom Windle and George Lydon, both of whom played well the year. Important depth to the team was added by juniors Michael Bless, and Hugh Miller. With seven returning let-terms, Coach Goddard is looking forward to yet another strong and exciting season.

Tennis in Wellesley is a tradition, a winning one! This year's girls' tennis team was not an exception. They finished up their season 15-3, good enough for 2nd in the highly competitive Bay State League. Led by captains Sarah Bodden and Debbie McColl, the team went far into the state tournament, both individually and collectively.

#1 singles was controlled by Sarah Bodden who went undefeated (16-0) during the year, the only girl to do so in the league. Debbie McColl played second singles and finished with a fantastic 17-1 record. Debbie Margolis played well at #3 singles while #1 doubles was ably manned by Karen Tung and Janet Donovan. #2 Doubles' personnel was subject to constant change; among the participants were Jill Windle, Ellen Kixon, Kerri O'Brien, and Liz Johnson. Coaches Bruce and Mrs. Von Rosenvinge are looking forward to the many capable underclassmen leading Wellesley to another successful season.

Clubs and Organizations

Turquoise is the oldest gem found set in American jewelry. Its sky blue color reflects the prosperity, success and happiness it can bring to the wearer. The participants in the Clubs and Organizations of WHS benefit greatly from their interaction in the extra curricular activities. WHS is fortunate to have a faculty that is willing to donate its time to be club advisors, enhancing the teacher-student rapport. The wide variety of clubs and organizations appeal to a cross section of students. Membership is open to any student who will actively participate to support the club. The activities change every year with the exception of the annual fund raisers and community support projects. Many of the clubs plan activities together.

A certain type of prosperity, success and happiness comes from the interaction among people. The students recognize these benefits and have responded by enthusiastically participating this year.

Regional Student Advisory

The Regional Student Advisory Council is a state-wide organization of representatives elected by their fellow students. The R.S.A.C. advises the Commissioner of Education and has voting representation on the State Board of Education. There are eleven regional councils across the state. Each of our delegates represents the concerns of the student body at the regional meetings. Most importantly, this year, our Regional Student Advisory Council delegates acted upon our needs and interests by supporting reforms in our school.

Mélange

The dedicated staff of Melange produced the second annual issue of the Wellesley High School's Fine Arts Magazine with the aid of faculty advisors: Mrs. Rosenfield, Mrs. Stoddard, and Mr. McGoff. The editorial board of the magazine, led by senior editors Jessique McCoy and Bill Kaplan, spent many hours selecting, editing, proof-reading, and laying-out to create a package of the finest literary and artistic work of the student body. Printed by Mr. Varley and his classes with the school's new facilities, the magazine is completely a product of Wellesley High School. The magazine will be entered in national competitions.

Student Government

The Student Government is an organization designed explicitly for students who are interested in voicing their opinions on student related affairs in the High School. Under the leadership of co-presidents Susu Aylward and Mary Beth Faubert, the Student Government this year sponsored a student caucus in which a Senior Pass Proposal was voted upon and approved. Other activities included a centennial Homecoming Dance, an Oxfam Fast, the variety show, and the student phone book.

Ed Bedrosian, Debbie Weil, David Kostin

Student Advisory Committee

Attending School Committee meetings regularly, the Student Advisory Committee lobbied for smaller class size, aided in preserving programs at the High School and insured the approval of the Senior Privilege Pass.

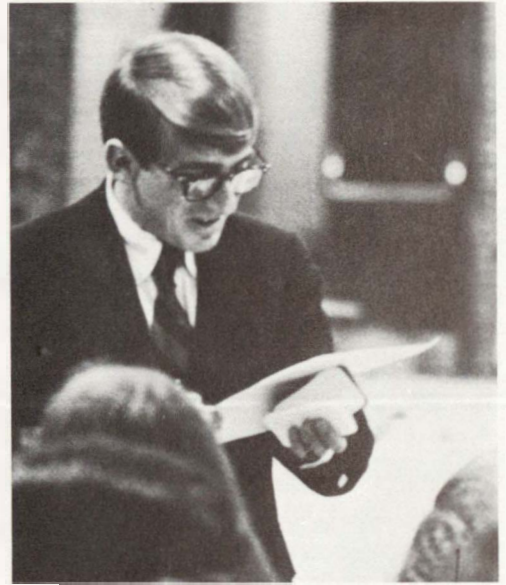

Student Advisory Committee members surveyed parents, teachers, and students regarding class size in the fall. The survey concluded that class size had a direct effect on education and that maintaining a comprehensive program was critical to all sectors. These findings were presented to the School Committee.

Because of the fiscal restrictions imposed by Proposition 2½, the School Committee developed a level funded budget. The Student Advisory Committee successfully urged the committee not to make deep cuts in the academic areas. A computer aide, which was originally slated for elimination, was also reinstated.

Student Government and Student Advisory Committee members cooperated to propose the Senior Pass. After this privilege had been passed by Student Caucus, the criteria were studied and refined. This led the School Committee approval of the Senior Privilege Pass in February. Seniors who meet certain guidelines are now allowed to leave school grounds during their studies.

WHS National Honor Society

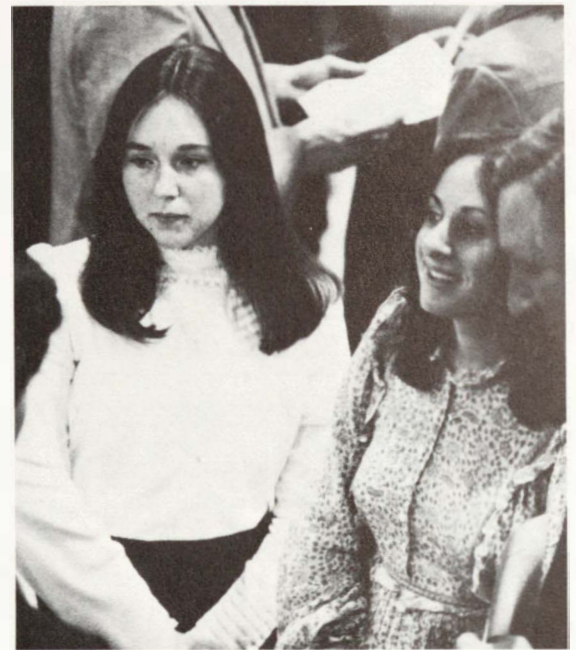

The National Honor Society honored its new members, both juniors and seniors, on March 30, 1982. The ceremony was led by President Marianne Wojnar, Vice President Mark Dacey, Treasurer David Eichorn, and Secretary Jill Windle. Under the guidance of Mr. Paul Esposito, the society organized a rake day and raised a sizable amount of money for the scholarship fund which is rewarded to a deserving senior. The society's members during the past 2 years have been chosen on the basis of their leadership, character, scholarship, and service to the community.

National Merit Scholars

The National Merit Scholarship competition has been established annually to recognize and to honor qualifying secondary school students. Those students whose scores on PSAT/NMSQT meet the required standards are placed among the 15,000 semifinalists, who represent the top half of one percent of the nation's high school graduating class. These semifinalists continue in the competition, and from this group a smaller number are chosen for advancement to finalists standing. Finalists received a Certificate of Merit and some 5,000 are awarded with college scholarships.

This year, Wellesley High School had four finalists. They are: Caroline Galand, Bill Kaplan, Tom Ramsey, and Nancy Ross. Their success in this competition is well-deserved.

Pep Club

The Wellesley High School "Red Peppers" is a Pep Club that was formed in the fall of 1980. Its main goal is to generate spirit for the high school athletics. The "Peppers" have achieved their goal this year by sponsoring an "All Sports Spirit Week," making cakes and cookies for the various sports, and putting up posters advertising the football games. Their secondary goal is to raise money for the Athletic Department, with the help of their sponsor Mr. Tripp. To raise money, the Peppers sold kisses at the Centennial Fair and maps for all athletic away-games.

It is their hope that the Peppers will grow in size and continued to generate all the school spirit Wellesley High should have.

Key Club

Under the guidance of advisor Mr. Donald Campbell and Mr. Bob Kuchefski, the Key Club completed another successful year of service to the student body and community. Members of the Key Club participated in such projects as the annual Key Club Auction. The club donated the proceeds of this activity to the Kiwanis Regional Trauma Institute. Other Key Club functions included bloodmobiles, visits to hospitals, and, of course, the popular Key Club Concession Stand at home football games.

Chess Club

The Chess Club provides the opportunity for individuals interested in chess to participate in intrascholastic and interscholastic chess competition. The Chess Club competes in the Central MA and Middlesex Scholastic Chess League which consists of 16 high school teams in Eastern and Central MA. There were many highly motivated players on the Chess Club in 1981-82, and the team just missed making the chess championship finals. Outstanding performances were turned in by Keith Noyes (5 wins), and John Chamberlain (4 wins). Other contributing members were David Connolly, Doug Hieber, Dana Murphy, and George Patterson. Graduating seniors are Keith Noyes, Captain of the team and a four-year member, and Doug Hieber, President of the Chess Club and a three-year member.

Debate Team

The 1981-82 Debate Team had a very successful season this year, qualifying several of its members for the National Finals in Detroit and San Francisco. The team was led by President Jeff Levy, Secretary Ward Reed, Treasurer Karen Benson, Novice Coach Betsy Reed, and Coach Jerri O'Connor. Standouts for Wellesley included Jenny O'Connor, John Chamberlin, and Betsy Reed. Among the tournaments the team participated in were: the prestigious Harvard University and University of Massachusetts competitions, along with the MFL State Finals and the New England Finals, where Wellesley finished very high in the standings.

French Club

The French Club this year was composed of the students who participated in the Martiniquean Exchange Program that was for the first time chaperoned by the club advisor, Mrs. Avots. Prior to their trip, the members had weekly meetings in preparation. For two weeks in April, the club members hosted their Martiniquean students. The remainder of the year's activities included: inter-club volleyball games, field trips, parties, and dinners.

The Latin Club involved fifteen students who share the same interest in learning about the language and lifestyles of Classical Rome under Mr. Esposito, the club's advisor. Some of the year's functions included volleyball games against the A.F.S. and Spanish Clubs, banquets, and Olympic games. The members also attended a Christmas service conducted entirely in Latin which was held at Brown University. The club participated in the Latin State Convention of Massachusetts, where Latin clubs from different school participated in several competitions and in cultural activities.

Spanish Club

The Spanish Club provides students with the opportunity to become more aware of Spanish-speaking cultures and peoples. Spanish Club activities include field trips to Spanish and Mexican restaurants, Spanish movies and Spanish art exhibits. The Spanish Club also co-sponsors several activities with the visiting Venezuelan students such as the Halloween party and a volleyball game. The biggest event of the year is the Total Immersion Program in Spanish on Cape Cod. For three days Spanish Club members and other interested students speak only Spanish while participating in a series of activities designed to increase their fluency in Spanish and to augment their knowledge of everyday life in Spanish-speaking countries.

German Club

This year the second annual German Exchange took place. A group of nine students visited Wuppertal for three weeks and toured Germany for one week. The Club planned the 2nd Massachusetts German Student Convention which took place on April 3. The activities included in the German workshops were cooking, theater, and folk dancing. The German Club also had a bake sale this year that grossed one hundred and fifty dollars. Other fundraisers included selling candy. The Club sponsored several parties and festivals this year. The group was fortunate to have Frau Stuart as advisor and a group of competent officers: Doris Hampe, President; David Dunelee, Vice-President; Louisa Stoddard, Katy Steinmetz, Treasurer; Nancy Burnham, Secretary; Janet Morgenthaler, Photographer.

Venezuelan Exchange

This past January, fourteen WHS students left the bleak, winterbound New England for the slightly more temperate climate of Venezuela. Their departure marked the fifth year of this successful exchange. During their three week stay, the students were hosted by different Venezuelan families. They attended school with their Venezuelan sisters and brothers, and explored the Spanish speaking island under the American guidance of Miss Susan Serafini. The closing of the fifth exchange proved to be no different than the past four as students made reunion plans, and exchanged gifts symbolic of both cultures. The exchange with Venezuela was once again more than a warm mid-winter escape. It was the warmth of the open-hearted hosts and the understanding of a new culture that they provided.

Exchange Programs

The Martinique Exchange Program

For the past six years, Wellesley Senior High School has hosted a successful exchange with students from the island of Martinique. This year's program began on Feb. 11, when fifteen French students and advisor Juliette Avots, boarded the plane for an exciting and rewarding trip. On the trip this year, the American students encountered different life styles by living with a Martiniquean family. Through the culture, customs, and education the students were able to improve their French with the added advantage of returning with a suntan. Many of the Americans were exposed to a total French immersion. Weighing both the good and the bad, the Wellesley students agreed that Martinique was a favorable growing experience.

The Martiniqueans came to Wellesley in April. Although they were always cold, they enjoyed: McDonald's, Quincy Market, roller skating, and sundaes. Many long lasting friendships were formed and we hope the exchange will continue to prosper.

They are always ready and willing to put suntan lotion on Ed. (Ed Mills, Beezee Sullivan, Nancy Anderson, and Julie McConville)

American Field Service

The A.F.S. Club celebrated another successful year in 1981-82. Under the guidance of the new advisor Mr. Rives, the club gained its largest treasury ever through such fundraisers as the penny drive and the chocolate sale. However, the membership was not only involved with fundraising. Members attended the Centennial Fair and Whole World Festival, as well as numerous parties including the tri-club Halloween party and Christmas Carolling party. Fifteen students, including foreign students: Izun Kitade (JAPAN) and Chacha Avil (EQUADOR), spent five days in Falls Church, Virginia on the club's annual short term exchange.

Drama Club

The Wellesley High School Drama Club is one of the largest organizations in the school, with over 75 active members. The 1981-82 season began with a production of "They Shoot Horses Don't They?", an original play adapted from the novel by Horris McCoy, followed by "The Apollo of Bellac" which won over 10 awards in the Regional Massachusetts Drama Guild competitions. The Drama Club concluded 1982 with largest in school drama festival which included the student directed musical, "Godspell" and the one-act plays; "Mirrors," "School for Wives," and "The Zoo Story." The Drama Club also won the Judges Award for the best float in the Veterans Day Parade.

National Art Honor Society

We are not to be confused with the National Honor Society. Our group consists of unique and talented artists, each interested in furthering creative ability. However, membership is limited to those who demonstrate enthusiasm and ability in various areas of art. Although organized only last year in the WHS, this society has worked on many inventive and interesting projects. This year, we sponsored an art-calligraphy show at the Junior High. We also spent time helping elderly people in the Newton-Wellesley Nursing Home decorate pumpkins for Halloween. In participation of Wellesley's birthday celebration we designed and sewed the Centennial Flag. Our other visible contribution hangs on the wall on the first floor of the high school. It is the mural. Our advisor, Bill Gow, is active in the arts and an enthusiastic coordinator of the groups' activities. We are the National Art Honor Society!!!

Lyrics

The Lyrics of 1981-1982 is a selective singing group composed of nine singers and two pianists. The group is directed by Mr. Donald K. Sullivan. Each year, the members are selected on the basis of blend, pitch, quality, and volume of each voice ranging from soprano to alto. The Lyrics concentrate mostly on pop music performing for a variety of audiences; church groups, school activities, adult organizations, and local clubs. Beneath the performances are the many aspects of practice, growth, friendship, music, and tradition that make the Lyrics unique. The Lyrics of 1981-82 are jewels in its preciousness and sentiment, celebrating its tenth and final year under the direction of Mr. Donald K. Sullivan.

Orchestra

The Wellesley High Orchestra spent a successful 1982 season under the direction of Mr. Robert Davis and concertmaster Karen Merguerian. In addition to their performances in school concerts, the members provided the background music for the WHS production of Cabaret, an ambitious undertaking for high school instrumentalists.

The orchestra grew in size with the addition of many sophomore musicians. Some of the members belong to other state-wide musical organizations. Karen Merguerian and Chris Sullivan play violin in the Greater Boston Youth Symphony Orchestra; Alex Mimo and Kevin Martel play bass and trumpet in the Mass. Youth Wind Ensemble. These four were also chosen as members of the District Festival Orchestra.

The WHS Marching Band

This year's Wellesley High School Marching Band was led by senior Kevin Martel and Director Mr. Robert Davis. Although the 1982 Marching Band was small their hard work succeeded in entertaining the football crowds at half-time. The band concluded their season with an exchange trip to Scarsdale, New York in May. After their annual citrus fruit sale. Drum Major Martel and Sergeants Karen Merguerian, Jenny Ratcliff, Betsy Reed, Katy Tuytschaevers, and Monika Woods were honored at the Fall Athletic Awards Ceremony with Varsity letters for three years of hard work with the Band.

Dixieland Band

The house lights dim, the members of the audience rush to their seats, and silence overcomes the auditorium. The curtain opens and eight performers appear on stage. Their hats, vests, and black bow ties reveal these students as Wellesley High School's Dixieland Band. Started only two years ago, the Dixieland Band achieved instant success by specializing in jazz "New Orleans" style. The band appears at both the Junior and Senior High Schools. It has also performed in the annual Variety Show, at the Community Center, and at Wellesley College. This year's Dixieland Bandies include: Arthur Love, drums; Kevin Martel, trumpet; John McRenolds, trombone; Alex Mimo, string bass; Betsy Reed, clarinet; Carolyn Sullivan, piano; Marieke van Willigan, trombone; and Monika Woods, tenor saxophone.

Outing Club

The Wellesley High School Outing Club was reorganized this year under the guidance of Advisor Gig Kerivan. The club sponsored many exciting outings, the first of which was a trip to the White Mountains in New Hampshire. Mr. and Mrs. Kerivan and eight Outing Club members spent three invigorating days camping, hiking, and mountain climbing at Zealand Falls, New Hampshire.

A second major trip occurred during February vacation. On this trip, eight members accompanied Gig Kerivan to Baxter State Park in Maine, where the members went hiking, cross-country skiing, and snow-shoeing.

The Club sponsored many outings throughout the year, thus giving a great many students the opportunity to participate in the unique activities.

Senior members of the club include Wyman Briggs, Silas Filer, Erin Hourihan, Mike MacDowell, Nancy Ross, Scott Sheridan, Helen Van Praagh, Lori Van Roekens, and Marianne Wojnar.

Radio Room

Led by Dennis McCormick, several members of the junior and senior classes participated in the daily announcements given during homeroom. The announcements are made from the radio room on the lower floor of the boiler room. Participants include Kevin Twitchell, Razor Coffey, Tom Davies, Diane Smith, Peter Doherty, Mike Polli, and homeroom representative Lauren Sexeny. Students and faculty write the announcements in the main office. From there, the announcements are taken downstairs to the radio room where they are read by the students over the intercom system.

"The kids have been outrageously efficient this year," said Mr. McCormick. He hopes the same level of competency will exist next year.

Moving Company

1982 marked the fifth season of the Moving Company, Wellesley High School's own dance troupe. The company artfully mastered their mini-repertory and the dancers were able to perform early in the year. This talented group of girls has performed in several shows under the guidance of their skilled instructors, Nancy Beardall, Liz Johnson and Frances Joseph. The Company celebrated "Dance Day" at the Junior High School on February 11th. Throughout March and April the Moving Company toured Newton, Brookline, and Weston High Schools. The Company hosted the First Annual Secondary School Dance Festival on April 5th. The month of May concluded the successful year with a performance at the High School exhibiting the full year's repertory.

Moving Company dancers are chosen for their technical ability, their mode of creativity, and their ability to work well with others. The Moving Company offers a place for the serious dancer to learn and improve and expand upon her talents.

The Bradford

This year the Bradford acquired a new facade. Not only did the editors change, but so did the format and processing of the paper. Previously, the Bradford had been typeset, laid out, and printed at the Belmont Printing Company. The Senior High School has recently acquired the necessary equipment to produce the paper for a fraction of the outside cost. The former editors, Janet Morgenthaler and Monika Woods worked hard to make the adjustments. The paper changed from standard to a pamphlet size as a concessions. Mr. Varley, a staff member familiar with both word-processors and darkroom procedures, will be next year's Production Advisor. The new editors, Debbie Weil, Susan Anthony, and Becky Bisselle, hope to generate more student body interest and participation in the coming year.

THE JOURNAL

The 1981-82 Journal Page under the supervision of advisor Janice Barrett, appeared monthly, for its second year, in the Townsmen. The staff organized to select topics of community interest, beginning with a teacher profile column and editorial section. The fall and winter editions presented our view of Proposition 2½ and the new principal. The creative and art sections, an open forum for expression, attracted a great variety of students to the staff. The Journal Page for another year tried to emphasize the activities, student/faculty relations, academic and athletic programs for the local community.

Yearbook

To say that creativity runs rapid in the class of 1982 is an understatement. Many WHS organizations can be cited as examples, but the one that truly crystalizes all the talents of the school is the Wellesleyan yearbook staff. From their artwork, layout and photography to their stories and write-ups, the yearbook staff embodies this ingenuity at its finest. In the Wellesleyan, the staff has hoped to execute a lasting tribute to the class of 1982. The time and effort that has gone into producing the book; the all-night work sessions; the photographer's weekend darkroom sessions; the efforts to meet the "impossible" deadlines; all our hard work has been put into perspective by the good times we have had working together. We feel that all our efforts have been justified and only hope that the class of 1982 will agree that our product, this book, reflects the talents and interests of the entire class.

Mined from the depths of the Junior High, the underclassmen truly resemble rough uncut gems. As sophomores, they arrive at WHS with a "Junior High lck" which dissolves sometime after mid-years. By spring of their sophomore year, they have been shaped and are ready to become unique stones.

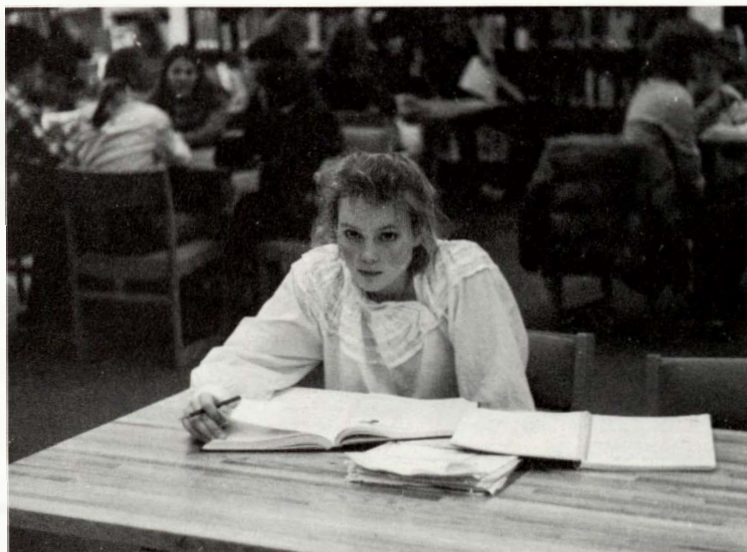

The junior class is progressively sculptured by the faculty cutters. They develop their own characteristics. Juniors are no longer sophomore cliques (raw stones), but individual, unique gems. Their class promises to have all stones polished and shining by Senior year.

While upperclassmen, particularly seniors, have looked down on sophomores, the dynamic class of 1984 has proven itself worthy of being accepted as a part of our high school environment.

Led by Pres. Molly Hault, V.P. Caroline Cronin, Treas. Suzanne Woods, and Sec. Martha Waldron, sophomore underclassmen most definitely have added spirit to Wellesley High. In October, the Sophomores held a successful bake sale for the PTSA "Back to School Night." With Thanksgiving approaching, the Sophomores surprised everyone by holding a class meeting in preparation for the Thanksgiving rally. Having a jump on the Juniors and Seniors, decorating the mezzanine and rally cheer, showed us that the class of '84 was unique.

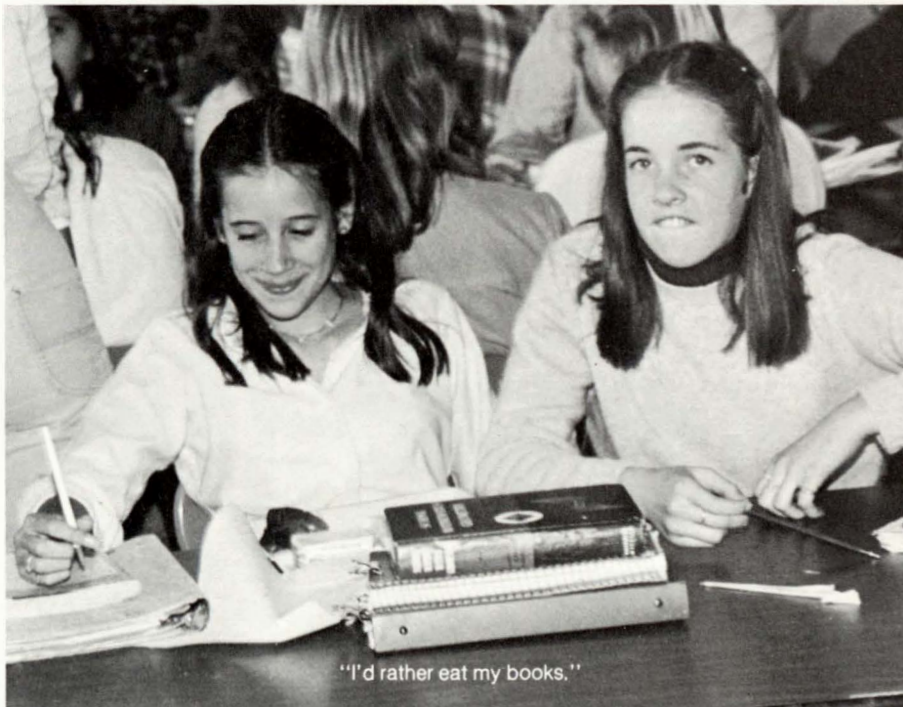

In March, Club '82 was well-staffed with sophomore waiters and waitresses, the biggest turnout in years.

Sophomores have gained the attention of the upperclassmen by selling donuts in the cafe during half days.

The Sophomores planned a class trip in May, as well as a few other activities. Having the support they need, the Class of 1984 has begun a fine start for their three years at Wellesley High School.

'83 and '84

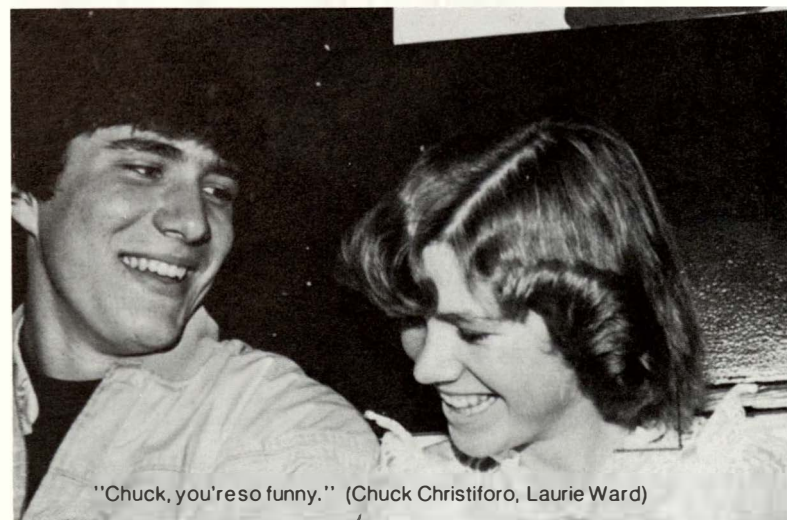

This year's Junior class success can be attributed to the leadership of officers Mora Sisk, David Oteri, Dana Lamothe, and Michele Weene. Building financial strength for their senior year was the Juniors' main goal this year. This was successfully done through many different fund raisers. The main activity was the Junior class candy drive during October and November. Green carnations on St. Patrick's day was also a sign of Juniors at work to raise money. On half days Juniors could always be seen selling doughnuts and cider on the Mez. Hard work seemed to be the Junior class motto. The year's events were concluded with the Junior Prom at the beginning of May. The Junior class looks forward to a great senior year.

Seniors

The diamond is not only the most precious of all gemstones, it is the most desired. It has been called the King of gems, the gem above all other gems, the master of them all, and the most powerful stone with the greatest influence in human affairs. This year's senior class is symbolized by the diamond, as we clearly display these characteristics.

The diversity of our senior class confirms its relation to the precious diamond. Underclassmen will always look up to and admire us, — but desire us? Well, maybe some of those senior men . . . The senior class activities were clearly the most successful. Seniors ruled with the first Pizza dance which underclassmen quickly tried to repeat. However, the "Kings" of the school were not to be outdone. The idea of a Senior Pass will be worked on by seniors and the Student Government, as seniors deserve to leave campus. Our class will try to start this tradition "having the greatest influence in human affairs" . . . The diamond also symbolizes victory over enemies. Our Thanksgiving football game illustrated this victory as we beat our old rival Needham on National TV, no less!

More modern beliefs involve diamonds with good luck and happiness. A diamond brings strength of both character and body and ability to resist temptation. Its greatest power is to give purity, innocence, and virtue to the wearer, which predicts successful futures for all seniors.

Traditions

Through time, the emerald has symbolized riches and fame, success and good fortune. The emerald was the gem of which a famed city of literature was built, "Follow the yellow brick road . . ." was the key phrase, and so Dorothy and her contingent did, discovering an emerald city of dreams at the termination of the path. Destiny held an emerald city of dreams for them; so all our futures hold the potential for fates as fantastic.

The emerald of the Traditions section symbolizes the good fortune the Class of 1982 has known and the success in life that we may now find. The green hue of the gem depicts the green of youth and life, now reaching and growing at a pace that refuses to be slowed. The green color is the "go ahead" signal we have received as we continue in our lives, unhindered by red or yellow signs of caution.

The emerald characterizes for us the power that is within each to continue to succeed. We have found this power of prosperity as a class, now we must find the power within our separate selves. The green seed of growth has been planted; our years together have instilled the emerald potential in all of us; now it has become an individual task.

We must now all follow our own yellow brick roads to emerald cities that signify for each of us a prosperity and happiness equalled only by that which we have found together. Within each of us shines an emerald, embedded there by our years together. And with the competition of these years we now begin anew the search for this eternal emerald.

"And in time we will all be stars"

Editor's Note

With the completion of this book, we hope to have created for you, our classmates, a treasure chest of memories. We have attempted to recreate for you the dreams we shared, the potentials we discovered within one another, the life we began together. The riches that lie within the book are waiting to be revealed; between the covers lies a treasure that only you, our class, can discover. We found it together senior year; it is up to you to discover it once more. We unearthed our fortunes together in 1982; now, our separate fortunes are being revealed to us. Here then is a treasure chest full of the fortunes we discovered once together. We hope these bejeweled pages can bring back treasured memories once more.
